AMERICANS CAPTURE NINE TOWNS ON LUZON

THIRD ARMY BATTERING LUXEMBOURG FRONT

Nazis Abandoning Belgium Positions

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, Jan. 11. (AP)—The United ates Third Army threatened to e in the Luxembourg front with surprise stroke today that sent ousands of Germans fleeing into e woods and in Belgium the my began a twenty-three-mile ithdrawal that turned loose Brit- h patrols on a ten-mile eastward eep.

The northwestern enemy anchor LaRoche fell along with fifteen her towns as German forces were orted evacuating the entire west- apex of their Belgian and Lux- bourg conquests.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's ops cut in half powerful box sitions southeast of Bastogne om which three enemy divisions d been hammering at his lines m the east. The neck out of the x now was no more than two les wide.

Resistance Collapsing

Resistance in the remainder of s area was reported collapsing pidly as the Germans — caught guard by the unexpected blow loundered off into the snow rifts and woods toward the un- rtain haven of Wiltz, ten miles st of Bastogne, where other Third my forces lie in wait.

The German high command ad- tted it was quitting all the Belgian ge west of the Ourthe river and ont dispatches said the new line expected to run from Vielsalm the north for sixteen miles south- st through Houffalize to near stogne.

This line would contain only about -fourth of the territory over- n at the height of the Germans' st offensive.

The closing jaws of the Allied e were expected to catch few soners, for Field Marshal Karl Rundstedt apparently had ared out the bulk and the best his troops with the help of fog, p snowdrifts discouraging swift suit, and dense mine fields.

British Advancing

While the British were coming on the west in a general advance three miles, the Germans had led out so quickly that all con- t was lost except for a few pers.

Tommies moved in from the northwest in force and seized the town of Ronchamps, only three miles southwest of doughboys in newly-captured LaRoche.

On the south, Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army in heavy attacks from three sides, cut the size of the strong Harlange box in half in eleven hours, took 400 prisoners, slaughtered a retreating convoy and sent survivors flounder- ing through snowrifts into the woods.

The box, from which the Ger- ans had been holding up any advance north of Bastogne by throwing in strong armored counter- blows, was five miles long and four miles wide before the attacks began.

The Berlin radio said the Ca- dian First army had launched an attack south of Nijmegen in Eastern Holland, but this was with- out Allied confirmation.

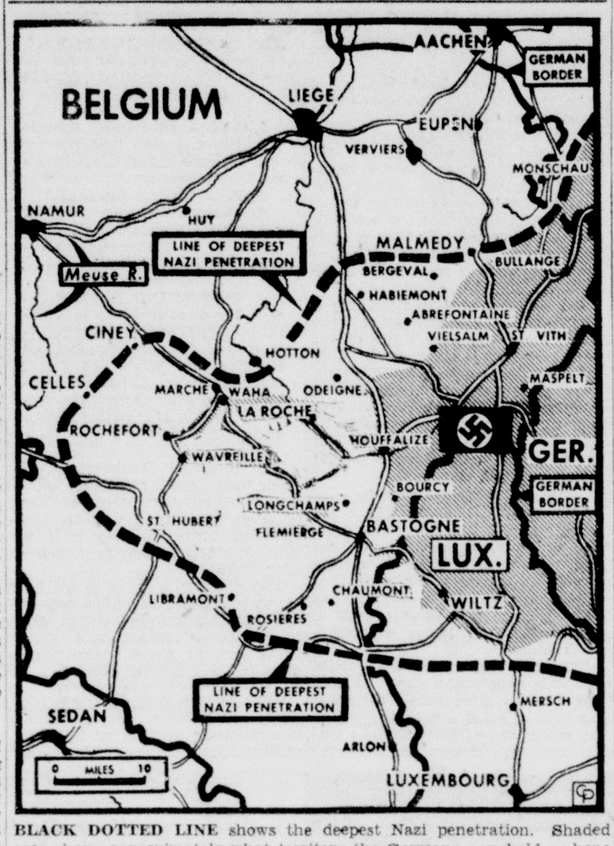

Repulse German Attack

The United States Seventh Army repulsed a German attack at Al- horn, six miles south of the fort- ss of Bitche near France's north- eastern frontier. Elsewhere along e sixty-mile front from Saar- bucken in the Saar to the Rhine, e Germans brought up reinforce- ents.

AP Correspondent Robert C. Wil- n reported the Germans con- ued to hold the perimeter of eir bridgehead north of Stras- urg firmly and that the Yanks re forced to withdraw from erlisheim, a village in that area. rther south in the Alsace plain, e First French army battled a German armored thrust northward ong the Rhine-Rhone canal which erran Obenheim, fourteen miles uth of Strasbourg, trapping the ench garrison. Planes of the st United States Tactical Air rce dropped supplies to the ench.

Wide Divergence Of Opinion on Home Rule Bills

White and Dick Both Opposed

By FRED STABLEY

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 11 (AP) — The various "home rule" bills which would give counties and municipalities more control over their own affairs apparently stand no more than an even chance to pass the state Senate and have but minority support in the House of Delegates, a survey showed today.

Several unofficial polls, plus statements by leaders of both Houses indicated backers of the measures would have a lot of work to do and, in the words of one, "will have to bring a lot of pressure to bear" if the trio of bills are to get the green light in both houses and reach the governor's desk for signature.

Poll Shows Trend

An Associated Press poll of senators to which eighteen of the twenty-nine responded, showed five potential "ayes", six avowed "nays" and seven "on the fence."

An admittedly "optimistic" count arrived at by backers of the measures in the Senate showed them to rate a fifteen to fourteen edge. This, they said frankly, included most of the doubtful votes on the "yes" side.

In the House, where both Speaker John S. White (D-Prince George's) and Minority Floor Leader J. Milton Dick (R-Allegany) are openly opposed to the bills, the chances are considerably less.

A partial poll of lower house members of the Associated Press showed opposition of two to one plus no leadership to push the measures along.

No Administration Backing

With Dick and White in opposition to the measures, only Majority Floor Leader Delegate John Luber was left to carry the ball, and his position was difficult for lack of administration backing.

Luber has expressed himself as favoring the measures and is a member of the Baltimore city delegation which is almost unanimously in its support.

Several legislators from both houses said "administration pressure" was the only hope of the bills getting through, but so far the governor's office has been silent. Attorney General William C. Walsh also refused to comment on their merits.

Some legislators even ventured a guess the bills wouldn't even be reported out of committee in the Senate while others pointed to a compromise as possible.

The compromise most prominently mentioned was the so-called "Brice proposal," named for former Senate President Arthur H. Brice, now a member of the public service commission.

Dating back to previous sessions of the General Assemlby, this plan would create a legislative body in each county composed of the delegation to the General Assembly and a group of top county officials, including the county commissioners, empowered to enact much local legislation now done by the General Assembly.

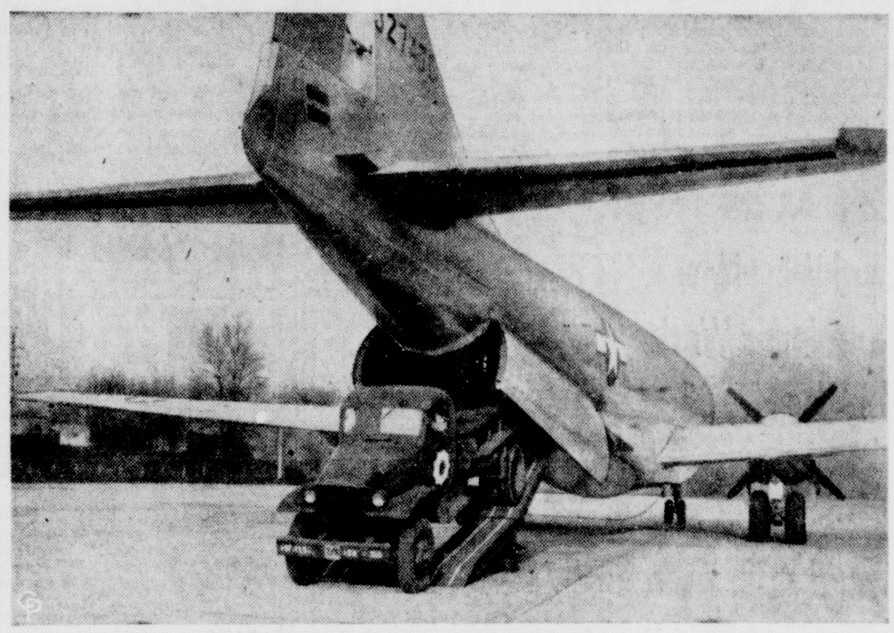

So far no such measure has been brought up in the General Assembly, and none is expected until the Senate judicial proceedings committee under Senator Joseph R. Byrnes works over the present proposals.

Three Companion Bills

The three "home rule" companion bills are those which would remove from the General Assembly certain law making powers now vested in it by the constitution, give to county commissioners these powers and do likewise for officials of incorporated municipalities.

The latter two would require simple majorities to pass, but the first, requiring a constitutional amendment, would need a three-fifths vote in each house and then a favorable referendum of the people at the next general election.

HERE'S THE ARMY'S NEW "FLYING FREIGHT TRAIN"

A ONE-AND-A-HALF TON TRUCK runs down a ramp leading from the fuselage of the new giant C-97, cargo-carrying copy of the B-29 Superforts. The "Flying Freight Train" was unveiled at Wright field, O., where it was disclosed that the craft can carry more than 100 fully equipped infantrymen, a truck like the one shown above, or two light tanks. Four 2,200 horsepower engines give the huge plane a maximum speed of over 300 miles per hour. Its range is 2000 miles, non-stop.

Gain from Seven To Nine Miles In Great Drive

Meet Resistance For First Time

By C. YATES McDANIEL AND JAMES HUTCHESON

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, LUZON, Friday, Jan. 12 (AP)—American invaders of Luzon, punching seven to nine miles inland from their twenty-five-mile-wide Lingayen gulf beachheads, have seized five more towns and terminals of four main highways and a railroad leading to Manila. They found the first appreciable opposition at their deepest spearhead.

Lt. Gen. Walter Krueger's Sixth army units have been advancing for two days as far and as fast as reasonable caution and the movement of supplies have permitted.

Yanks Hold Nine Towns

The Yanks have now taken nine towns and more than a score of villages.

The forty-eight-hour advance has carried the Americans well south of the maze of swamp country at the mouth of the meandering Agno river and across the river line along which the Japanese might have been able to make a delaying stand.

Only on the extreme left flank, along the Pozorrubio riad, have the Americans run into anything more than isolated and quickly eliminated sniper resistance.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique today made the first mention of "combat contact" near Pozorrubio at the end of the deepest spearhead east of the San Fabian Landing Beach. He gave no indication of the severity of the fighting there.

Beachheads Widened

The original fifteen-mile beachheads were widened to at least twenty-five miles with the capture of the mouth of the Agno, which empties into Lingayen gulf west of captured Lingayen town.

Nine miles represented the deepest point of penetration in the time covered in the communique. Since the communique always lags twenty-four hours behind operations it was probable patrols had driven deeper since then.

Apparently deceived by the Lingayen landings, the Japanese were slowed in their defense moves by American warplanes which hammered communication lines and military concentrations and drove the Nipponese air force from the skies.

Artillery spotter planes already were using the Lingayen airfield, cutting down the effectiveness of Japanese mortar and big gun fire.

Drive for Clark Field

Clark field, a major objective ahead of the Yanks, was less than forty miles distant. Situated on the west side of the wide open plain stretching to Manila bay, Clark field is but seventy-five miles northwest of the capital city. It is along the railroad running northward from Manila to Dagupan, the Lingayen coastal town seized quickly by landing forces.

A delayed dispatch from Fred Hampson, Associated Press war correspondent, reported the Fourteenth army corps had pushed west along the Southern Lingayen coast within two miles of Port Sual. This operation gave General MacArthur's forces a solid beachhead base of more than twenty miles, running from near Port Sual to San Fabian.

(The Tokyo radio reported Thursday that the "fiercest and bloodiest" battle of the invasion was raging around San Fabian and that a new American attempt to land at Rabon, north of San Fabian, was liquidated "within ten minutes."

(Tokyo also told of "immense battles" being fought in the gulf and landing barges "being blown off the beaches in the all-out offensive of Japanese forces." All of these unconfirmed claims were made in broadcasts for home and empire consumption.)

Government Puts Ban on Special Train Service

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The government tonight forbade future operation of passenger trains to provide seasonal service to resorts, recreational or vacation areas.

A tightening up of the September, 1942, "freeze" of passenger service also directed the railroads to discontinue after March 1 any passenger train schedule on which the occupancy of seats and space did not average thirty-five per cent during November, 1944.

Meantime, officials went to work to implement War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes's order for a widespread "brownout" of advertising lights and other illumination drawing upon scarce fuels.

Cuts Window Lighting

The ban, it was tentatively decided, will apply also to show window lighting, and will call for dimming of white way street lighting where public safety permits.

The passenger curtailment orders were issued by the Office of Defense Transportation, in response to a request by Byrnes, as a fuel conservation move.

Since Sept. 30, 1942, no railroad has been permitted to operate special or excursion trains without ODT approval, and the agency said "very few special trains" have been approved.

"The effect of today's action is to eliminate seasonal passenger train schedules to resort areas which were not discontinued by the 'freeze' order," ODT said.

Will Curtail Branch Service

The thirty-five per cent occupancy formula, the agency added, will eliminate many branch line schedules and result in a "sizable saving of coal." Where branch lines have been operating freight trains with some passenger equipment attached, this service may be continued.

The order does not affect suburban and interurban service.

ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson said that while a general "freeze" order has kept passenger service at the general level of Sept. 30, 1942, "this new order means fewer people will be able to travel now."

He agreed with Byrnes that the coal situation is extremely critical and that available supplies must be conserved.

There was no estimate as to the number of trains that would be af-

Michigan State Senator Shot to Death in Auto

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 11 (AP) — State Senator Warren G. Hooper, Albion, Mich., Republican, was found shot to death tonight in his automobile four miles north of Springport, Mich., and Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler ordered the Carr grand jury investigators to investigate his death at once.

Police said Hooper's automobile was on fire when the body was discovered. The body, police said, was on the right side of the front seat of the car and no gun was found at the scene. There was a bullet hole through a rear right window of the car.

Sigler said "Hooper was a principal witness in the grand jury's case against Frank D. McKay, of Grand Rapids, Mich., former Republican national committeeman for Michigan; Floyd Fitzsimmons, Benton Harbor, Mich., sports promoter, and William Green of Hillman, Mich., former state representative, all arrested by the grand jury on a charge of conspiracy to bribe state legislators in connection with a parimutuel betting bill.

Sigler said Hooper was "of value" as a witness against William J. Burns, secretary of the Michigan State Medical Society, who was accused by the grand jury of offering a bribe on medical society legislation. Neither of the two warrants have gone to trial.

He said Hooper had given a "complete confession to the grand jury and had been granted immunity from prosecution to testify concerning all the facts" in the McKay-Fitzsimmons-Green case.

The one-man grand jury is investigating charges of graft in Michigan government.

Five Soldiers Get Long Terms For Robberies

By WADE WERNER

PARIS, Jan. 11 (AP)—Sentences of imprisonment at hard labor ranging from forty to forty-five years were imposed today on five United States enlisted men by a general court martial trying a series of cases involving the looting of supply trains and the diversion of cigarets and other army goods into black market channels.

Sentenced to forty years were Pvt. Fred C. Jones, 19, Route No. 3, Philippi, W. Va.; Pvt. Edward N. Wagner, St. Paul, Minn.; Pfc. Thomas G. Harper, 26, Centralia, Ill., and Sgt. Leonafd J. French, 93, Houston, Tex.

Sgt. Merel A. Young, 36, of New York city, was sentenced to forty-five years.

All Sign Confessions

Signed confessions showed that the five men participated in lootings and black market deals netting them thousands of dollars. All five were of Company C of the Seven Hundred and Sixteenth railway operating battalion. They were the second group to be tried in cases in-

Britain Stills Furore: German Radio Attempt To Divide Allies Spiked in Official Note

By JOHN F. CHESTER

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The British government stepped in today to still the furore admittedly aroused among mainy American soldiers by a purported BBC broadcast which spoke disparagingly of the part played by United States troops in halting the German offensive. Brendan Bracken British minister of information, labelled the broadcast a German-engineered fake.

Bracken sent a message to Gen. Eisenhower saying that he had heard that many American soldiers and correspondents had been "greatly angered by the broadcast."

Nazis Gloat Over Ruse

Bracken's statement appeared likely to put an end on this side of the Atlantic to this latest "Mary of Arnhem" incident—so called because aNazi station with a woman announcer and masquerading as BBC is located in Holland. The station was active againt today and there was considerable German gloating over the success of this latest propaganda ruse.

Most London observers believed, however, that the incident might even have a salutary effect. There has been a noticeable diminution in transatlantc "name-calling" in British publications during the past week and Bracken's praise of American troops is in line with efforts of many leaders here to call a halt to the "word battle."

The latest such statement came totnight in a speech by Sir Percy Harris, deputy leader of the Liberal party, who said, "There are far too many explosives flying across the Atlantic and if someone does not call a 'cease fire', the United Nations will not remain united for long after the armistice."

Praise for Montgomery

The broadcast which said American forces had been bewildered and disorganized but that the Marshal von Rundstedt drive could be "written off thanks to Field Marshal Montgomery," caused little stir in the British press.

Although the broadcast had been made Monday morning, it went unmentioned in the London papers until yesterday when the Daily Mail iebelled it a fake after reporting Americans at the front and in the United States had bee nupset by it. All the papers carried a BBC denial this morning, with some adding lengthy explanations of the incident.

Bracken's statement, after praising Eisenhower for the "truely marvelous job he has done in creating unity among the Allies," sought to assure him of British press support for his military efforts.

Four-Year-Old Boy Burns to Death

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Four-year-old Teddy Barham was burned to death today in a fire which destroyed a four-family unit in Carry Homes, a government housing project at nearby Suitland, Md.

The child was the son of Navy Seaman and Mrs. Milton Barham.

Two young children of Army Pvt. and Mrs. Lawrence E. Glorius said the three children were playing with matches in the Barham apartment. The Glorius children escaped.

Pvt. Glorius attempted to reach the trapped Barham child but was prevented by flames. He suffered a burned shoulder and cut hand.

The child's mother was away from home when the tragedy occurred. His father is overseas. There are three other Barham children ranging in age from two to ten years.

Damage in the fire was estimated unofficially at $20,000.

Japanese Fleet Believed Under American Attack

UNITED STATES FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 11 (AP)—Carrier planes are "attacking the enemy off the coast of French Indo China," Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced tonight and it seemed highly probable that a Japanese fleet was the target.

Camranh bay is the closest and best protected Japanese fleet base from which the enemy could attempt reinforcement of Luzon. It is 1,000 miles from the Saigon area to Manila.

Camranh bay's superb natural harbors undoubtedly have been developed into one of Japan's key naval bases.

Large anchorage areas also are available in Vinhba bay and the grand passage southeast of the entrance of Camranh bay.

The Blue network reported that Admiral Nimitz said from Pearl Harbor during a broadcast of the March of Time program tonight, "xxx and now I have some real news. Carrier borne aircraft are now attacking the coast of French Indo-China between Siagon and Camranh bay."

NBC reported receiving the following announcement, described by its Pacific representative as a communique and which he said was issued by Nimitz:

"Carrier aircraft of the Pacific fleet now have attacked the enemy off the coast of French Indo-China between Saigon and Camranh bay. Saigon is 588 nautical miles north of Singapore and Camranh bay is on the coast of Asia almost directly opposite Manila. The words 'attacked the enemy' could mean either enemy installations or enemy warships.

This is the first time that a task force of the Pacific fleet has gone into action so far south in the south China Sea."

Tight Manpower Move Explained By Sec. Stimson

By W. H. MOBLEY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Stubborn Nazi determination to fight to the finish, and unexpected speed in getting to grips with the Japanese, lie back of the demand for tighter manpower controls, War Secretary Stimson said today.

Asserting at his news conference that "measured in terms of effectiveness the army is understrength," Stimson said:

Jobs for Older Men

"If the needs of the armies at the front are to be met, there seems to be no escape from calling into the armed services during this year, substantially all physically qualified men below thirty years of age from factory, farm and government. But when we do this the places of these young men will have to be taken by older men, women and younger men not acceptable, for military service."

He insisted that the real solution is national service legislation.

The secretary's explanation of the new manpower stringency was given while Col. Francis V. Keesling, Jr., was telling the House Military committee where Selective Service plans to get 900,000 young men for the armed forces by July 1.

Army Quota Largest

January and February draft calls, Keesling testified, will be 112,000 each — 80,000 for the army and 32,000 for the navy—with the army quota going up to 100,000 for the following four months to make the monthly total 132,000.

That builds up a six-months draft total of about 750,000 with the remainder of the 900,000 expected to come from enlistments of youths in the navy and marine corps.

It is planned to make up the draft totals, Keesling said, as follows: 240,000 youths becoming 18 years old; 180,000 men now classified 1A; 330,000 men not over 38 and holding industrial and farm deferments.

That last 330,000 is where the manpower rub comes.

Breakdown of Figures

Keesling broke down the available sources for them: 360,000 under 26 deferred for essential farm work and 100,000 in industry, including 60,000 in the merchant marine; 800,000 between 26 and 30 deferred in industry and 265,000 on farms; 3,200,000 between 30 and 38 deferred in industry and 700,000 on farms.

Those figures build up a pool of only 1,525,000 in the under-30 age group. The services are staying as

War Labor Board Ready To Grant Wage Boost to Textile Workers

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The War Labor Board was represented today as being ready to grant a fifty-five cent minimum wage to northern and southern textile workers accompanied by a five-cent hourly increase.

Emil Rieve, president of the CIO-Textile Workers and an alternate member of the board, said there is "every indication" this would be the board's long-awaited decision in the textile case in the southern field.

Other sources said the present plan is to grant the same wage terms to the northern workers.

Directly involved are 28,000 workers in twenty-five New England mills, 3,600 in six New York and Pennsylvania mills, and 19,000 in twenty-three southern mills.

The union had asked for a sixty-cent minimum and a general increase of at least ten cents an hour. A WLB panel estimated the minimum rate in New England was fifty-two to fifty-two and a half cents and that average straight time earnings there were 66.6 cents.

Sec. Stimson Promises December Casualty Figures at Early Date

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Secretary Stimson, asserting that the army has withheld no casualty figures, promises a report next week on American losses during the December phase of the German counteroffensive in Belgium.

He released figures today showing that army casualties since Pearl Harbor have reached 564,351 on the basis of reports compiled in Washington through December 29. These figures, he said, reflect actual casualties two or three weeks earlier. The German drive in Belgium and Luxembourg began December 16.

The army's casualties, together with the latest announced navy toll of 82,029 pushed total casualties for the armed forces to 646,380, an increase of 8,241 over last week's tally. The army increase amounted to 7,999 and the navy's 242.

Stimson noted at his news conference that the War department regularly announces about the middle of each month the losses in the European theater during the preceding month.

Royal Air Force Lancasters Bomb Germany's Great Industrial Area

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Royal Air Force heavy Lancaster bombers resumed the systematic Allied pounding of Germany's great industrial Ruhr district in the only daylight raid today. Raging blizzards halted operations of the Britain-based United States Eighth Air Force.

Late in the afternoon formations of heavily-loaded Lancasters escorted by P-51 Mustangs roared through the wintry skies bound for railyards in the Krefeld district fifteen miles northwest of the big Ruhr city of Dusseldorf.

They pounded the marshaling yards, which lie about fifty miles east of the Dutch-German border, in an assault aimed at catching any enemy rail traffic which might have been heading for the battle-front over recently repaired tracks.

A great portion of the industrial city of Krefeld, on the west bank of the Rhine, was heavily damaged by RAF bombers in 1943. It is a junction for the main railroad lines running to Belgium and Holland from Dusseldorf and the Rhur valley. The Krefeld freight yards on the outskirts of the city have a normal capacity for handling 6,700 railway cars and locomotives daily.

Ingram Insists Robot Bombs May Fall in America

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commander in chief of the Atlantic fleet, renewed today his warning of danger of robot bomb attacks.

"In my opinion such an attack is possible and feasible," he said in an address prepared for the March of Time Program.

Statement Not Repeated

The admiral did not, however, repeat his news conference statement of last Monday that it is "probable" the buzz bombs will fall on New York and other Atlantic ports in the next thirty to sixty days.

That declaration elicited from the navy the comment that "there is no more reason now to believe that Germany will attack with robot bombs than there was on Nov. 7, 1944." On that date the army and navy called such attacks "entirely possible" but did not go so far as to say "probable."

Otherwise the admiral stuck steadfastly to his guns:

"My recent warning on German robot bombs was in keeping with my ideas of reasonable precautionary measures for the defense of our eastern approaches. x x x When I say the threat exists, I mean there is a chance that we may be called upon to stop an attack from enemy seaborne apparatus—and that is my job and the job of the Atlantic fleet."

Defenses Are Ready

He added his assurance that "the sea and air defenses of all possible points of attack in the Atlantic are adjusted to my satisfaction."

While details of successes against German submarines "must remain secret now," Ingram said, "the people of this country may be sure of one thing: History will record the battle of the Atlantic as one of the decisive campaigns of the war."

Speaking on the same program with Admiral Ingram was fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet who asserted that 1945 was "a critical year in our war against Japan."

In an address made public by the navy department, Admiral Nimitz said what remains of the enemy's "stolen empire" is in peril.

Expects Enemy To Fight

"Now we may expect our desperate enemy to fight back bitterly in order to stave off final defeat," he added.

Admiral Nimitz said the greatest contribution the American people could make to the offensive would be for every working man and woman to stick to the job of production.

Serious manpower shortages exist in shipyards and navy yards, he said, and added:

"A ship that is undergoing repairs at a navy yard or waiting to get into a yard is temporarily of no more use than if she were at the bottom of the sea."

MAYOR PROMISES AID FOR FAMILIES UNABLE TO RENT DWELLINGS

An ordinance, which if approved, will make it illegal for a person or corporation to refuse to rent a dwelling place to a family with children, will be introduced at a meeting of the city council, Mayor Thomas S. Post announced yesterday.

The mayor admitted he has received no formal complaints but he said he knew of numerous instances where couples with children have been forced to rent quarters they did not desire or to buy homes in order to get a place in which to live.

Some landlords contend that children destroy property and they cannot afford to rent to such families. The mayor asserts children are not nearly as destructive as some persons think, and that often many well-deserving families are done a great injustice when they are refused a home solely for that reason.

An ordinance along these lines was introduced in Baltimore November 27 and referred to the committee on legislation.

volving 182 enlisted men and two officers.

Sgt. Young was said to have sent home $1,200 in money orders in a single month. His army pay was $93 monthly.

The prosecution stressed throughout the proceedings, however, that money values of the looted supplies were utterly immaterial—that the real crime involved was diversion of needed supplies from the fighting front during a critical combat period.

The convictions were based mainly on the signed confessions. None of the defendants however, contested the accuracy or validity of the confessions as they were read in court. The men stood at attention before the court at the end and saluted as they heard the presiding member, Col. John A. Hoag, sentence them. They walked out without any visible sign of emotion.

Third Group Faces Trial

A third group, whose names have not been disclosed, will be tried tomorrow.

Jones, in his confession, offered the argument that the railway battalion men worked long hours, often lacking regular rations, and that some of them took food from the trains, later selling what was left over from a broken package.

Evidence showed that more than 70,000 cigarets were taken by the five men convicted today. This is equivalent to $7,000 on the black market. Chocolate and other rations also were taken.

Defense Counsel Capt. Robert L. Guthrie, Dallas, Tex., made a special plea for leniency in the case of Jones on account of his youth, picturing him as a casualty on the corruption front, a youngster in a strange country "surrounded by men engaged in looting and tempted to do likewise."

All five men were sentenced to dishonorable discharges and loss of pay and allowances. The sentences are subject to ratification by reviewing authorities.

Russians Holding Most of Budapest

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, Friday, Jan. 12 (AP)—Russian Stalingrad veterans overran the entire Angyalfold district in Northern Budapest yesterday, driving to within twenty blocks of the Hungarian Parliament building in the center of the city and winning control of approximately four-fifths of the burning capital, Moscow announced last night.

Simultaneously, in fierce fighting on the snow-covered hills west and and northwest of Budapest, other Soviet units for the fourth straight day repulsed large German infantry and tank forces attempting to break through to the rescue of the weakened and desperate Axis garrison, the Soviet communique said.

A midnight supplement, telling of the struggle west of the capital, said the Russians killed 900 Germans in two repulses during the day and knocked out nineteen tanks and seven armored troop carriers.

In ten days' fighting to relieve the capital the Germans have sacrificed almost 16,000 men killed, and approximately 650 tanks on the basis of Moscow's accounts.

Forty miles northwest of Budapest Soviet troops were reported fighting in the outskirts of Komarno, strategic Slovak communications base on the north bank of the Danube, but the communique did not mention the battle for that six-way rail town only eighty-three miles from Vienna.

Byrd Wins New Laurels for Work On War Effort

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—Richard Evelyn Byrd, the polar explorer, won new laurels as a pioneer in aviation today . . . this time in the Pacific.

President Roosevelt lifted the veil of secrecy the shy retired rear admiral donned himself by awarding him the legion of merit and pinning it on his uniform at the White House.

The decoration is for exploring the Southeastern Pacific to chart a new air route to Australia.

FDR Praises Byrd

The president said Byrd had done a great job for the future of United States and United Nations air travel across the Pacific.

One object, Mr. Roosevelt said, was to find new airfields to cut down the travel time between the Panama Canal area and the Southwest Pacific.

Holder of the congressional medal of honor and other decorations, Byrd wore none of these as he stood in the president's office today and heard Mr. Roosevelt, as he pinned the newest medal on him, saying, "you certainly deserve it."

The chief executive called him "Dick" as he finished reading the citation. Before that he told reporters and others present how Byrd took an old gunboat to the Southeastern Pacific and scoured all the islands to find the best possible bases for air travel.

Duties Confidential

The official release said Byrd's wartime duties have been very confidential "which accounts for the speculation as to what has become of him."

It aserted that his duties have twice taken him to the Pacific and that he has just returned from the battlefront in Belgium where he studied the tactical support of ground troops by aviation.

Since the start of the war Byrd was said to have been on aviation duty most of the time with the commander in chief of the United States fleet. He will soon go back to the Pacific.

A Virginian, the admiral is a brother of Senator Harry Flood Byrd. He was a navy commander when he made his historic flight to the north pole, followed by the south pole expedition. Byrd was one of the early trans-Atlantic fliers, too.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed for the first time that the Seventh army, in its recent withdrawal in Northeastern France, gave up at least fourteen miles along the west bank of the Rhine from Berg to Kauffenheim.

Battle of Bulge Near End

It seemed clear that the western phase of the battle of the Belgian bulge was in its last stage and the next would be fought in the wider eastern sector of the Ardennes, where the German holding will be little more than a fourth the size it was at the high tide of conquest.

The Eighty-second airborne division fought into Vielsalm and crossed the Salm river on a front 1,000 yards wide. To the northeast patrols ranged boldly and deeply into German-held territory south of Malmedy without encountering resistance.

As the mercury dipped to nine above zero, the Eighty-third infantry division five miles southwest of Vielsalm penetrated the village of Langlin, only three and a half miles north of the last good enemy line of retreat out of the bulge.

Third in Tank Battle

The Third armored division was locked in a tank battle in this area with German forces trying to keep the roof of the sagging bulge from caving in before von Rundstedt can extricate all his forces.

The Eighty-third also seized Bihain, seven miles north of Houffalize and pressed on nearly a mile south where fierce fighting broke out.

To the west, LaRoche fell quickly as doughboys who came in from the north joined up with those who had crossed the Ourthe river south of the town.

Striking straight east, the British meanwhile moved their whole line forward as much as three miles, swept up half a dozen towns or more, and sent patrols on seven miles ahead to the vicinity of Champion. The main force nowhere made contact with the withdrawing enemy.

Benjamin Franklin helped establish a mutual fire insurance company in the United States in 1752.

Four Delegates Ask Change in Budget System

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan.11 (AP)—A request for study and possible "improvement and modernization" of what was termed "an intricate, complex, confused, overlapping and often cumbersome" state budget system was laid before the House of Delegates today.

It came in the form of a resolution introduced by a quartet of delegates and was immediately handed over to the Ways and Means committee.

Delagates Complain

The resolution asserted that the budget system was "out of line and not in harmony with the needs and requirements of these modern times, making it very difficult for the Ways and Means committee of the House to discharge its duty in a completely satisfactory manner" in relation to budgetary considerations.

Introduced by Delegates S. Denmead Kolb (D-Wicomico) William F. Stromeyer (D-Anne Arundel), J. Harry West (D-Balti 3rd) and Charles M. Bandiere (D-Balti 5th), it asked that a joint Senate-House committee be appointed "to take such action and make such recommendations as to it seem best for the consideration of the state budget."

A report of its findings was requested not later than Jan. 31, 1847.

No Comment from Leaders

Introduction of the resolution, coming as it did shortly before Governor O'Conor's anticipated budget address and at the height of the pre-speech speculation, highlighted an otherwise dull day in both houses of the General Assembly. It brought no immediate comment from legislative leaders.

Seventeen bills were introduced in the Senate at its half-hour session, all but one local in character.

The latter, introduced by Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) would clarify provisions of the Maryland law on employment of minors in factories.

Four favorable committee reports, all on finance committee bills, were adopted. Three related to the income tax law, the other would make it a misdemeanor to refuse to pay tolls at bridges and tunnels.

Connally Asks Senators To Stop Debating Future

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. (AP)—Senator Connally (D-Tex), after a presidential briefing on foreign policy today, urgently requested his colleagues to avoid disturbing "the delicate international situation" pending a Roosevelt-Stalin-Churchill conference.

The chairman of the foreign relations committee led an eight-man senate delegation to the White House conference. The senators, pledged to secrecy concerning their discussions with Mr. Roosevelt waved aside questioners or reported a satisfactory interchange of views.

"Big Three" Conference Soon

Connally, however, left no doubt that another "Big Three" conference is in the making—presumably sometime after the presidential inauguration exercises Jan. 20.

The Texan issued this terse statement:

"The subcommittee had a very pleasant and satisfactory conference with the president. In anticipation of his departure to meet Stalin and Churchill, the views of members of the subcommittee were made known to the president and the president's views were made known to the subcommittee.

"Until the meeting of Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill, I hope that there will be no resolutions presented in the Senate or general discussions which would disturb the delicate international situation."

Wants Less Talking

The Texan's request apparently was aimed against any more such field days of debate on foreign affairs as occurred yesterday. In a crowded three hours, the Senate heard Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) propose an immediate international agreement for the policing of Germany and Japan, and Senator Ferguson, likewise a Michigan Republican, seek support for a resolution reaffirming the principles of the Atlantic Charter.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Latin suffix "cide" meaning killer, much used in the past, is likely to be even more widely used in the future, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

Insecticides, bactericides, fungicides, vermicides are common terms. Now the department reports progress in chemically destroying weeds and "nematocides" are being developed.

Baltimore Coal Stocks Depleted

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — A survey of retail coal yards today showed that coal stocks have been so sharply reduced that bins were practically empty, and coal was being trucked into some industrial plants which ordinarily get carload lots.

John W. Lewis, assistant superintendent in charge of business management of public schools, said a number of the heating plants in city schools were operating on a "hand-to-mouth" basis.

Some retail yards have limited their deliveries to one ton, and many were besieged by customers who carted away pecks and bushels of coal in wheelbarrows, baby carriages, toy wagons, private motor cars and hired trucks.

City hospitals reported that their stockpile was down to 1,580 tons, and many industrial plants reported that their stockpiles were at a "perilously low" point.

The situation was further aggravated by a shortage of trucks, many of which have been immobilized because of a parts shortage and the lack of automobile mechanics.

An acute shortage of Virginia anthracite has forced several dealers to substitute coke, although this, too, is available only in limited quantities.

Gen. Kesselring Has Another "Accident"

LONDON, Jan. 11 (AP)—The German radio said tonight that Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, German commander in Italy, had an "accident" recently at the Italian front, but now was fully recovered.

"Kesselring has been shot down three times in more than 120 flights over the front, and has had a total of seven accidents, but he remains himself and his vitality saw him through a more recent accident," it added.

On Dec. 31 the Brussels radio broadcast what it said was an order of the day from Hitler, issued in November, announcing Kesselring's death. That broadcast gave no details.

far from older men as they can get, but unless that attitude is relaxed, the 330,000 men would take more than one in five of the younger group.

The Selective Service official endorsed a bill by Rep. May (D-Ky), chairman of the Military committee which amounts to a work or fight law for men 18 to 45. The legislation would make men in those age brackets liable for induction into army or navy work forces if they shift jobs without draft board approval.

Keesling estimated that 18,000,000 men are in the groups affected, including all those now deferred for physical defects, and in agriculture, war production and war-supporting occupations.

Ward Company And Army Battle With Affidavits

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (AP) — The army and Montgomery Ward and Company fought a battle of affidavits today, each accusing the other of responsibility for business confusion arising out of army operation of sixteen company properties in seven cities.

Twenty-six affidavits by army officers were filed in federal court today in connection with the government suit, now under advisement of Judge Philip L. Sullivan, for a judgment to uphold legality of the presidentially-ordered seizure Dec. 28 and for an injunction to prevent alleged company interferences with army operation.

This brought to fifty-three the number of government affidavits on file, compared with the company's eighty-four total up through yesterday.

In these affidavits the army replied to accusations by Ward's, contained in thirty-three additional company affidavits filed yesterday, that Ward's business was being hampered and that inefficiency and confusion had been caused by the army.

Lt. Col. J. H. Savage, disbursing adviser to Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron, military manager at Ward's, in one long affidavit declared it was the company's refusal to cooperate that had caused the trouble. Colonel Savage said in part:

"It seemed incredible that any company would embark upon a policy of wrecking its business for the purpose of discrediting its government, and officers of the company were invited to join with officers of General Byron's staff in effecting sensible business solutions to common problems.

"It was proposed that the War department exercise only such control as was necessary to effectuate the provisions of the executive order. The suggestion that this method be adopted was rejected despite written assurances from the commanding general, army service forces, that no co-operative act would prejudice any rights of the company."

Prompt Use of Instruments of War To Stop Wars Urged by Dr. Bowman

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 11 (AP)—Prompt use of "the instruments of war to prevent war" was advocated today by Isaiah Bowman, president of Johns Hopkins University.

Dr. Bowman, an American representative at the Versailles conferences after the last war and at Dumbarton Oaks, said "an aggressor does not stop because someone shakes a finger at him. He measures tonnage against tonnage, tanks against tanks, planes against planes."

These statements were made in an address prepared for delivery before the convention of the American Association of Colleges. Although Dr. Bowman was ill, and unable to deliver the speech, the text of the address was included in the record of the session.

No Immediate Change

The president of Johns Hopkins said we must not expect ideal conduct on the part of the nations immediately.

"If we insist at the beginning upon the highest conceivable international conduct x x x we blow up our bridges before we come to them.

"In the face of profound religious, economic, and social variations and unlikeness among the nations we have to search out a line of minimum conduct now," he added, "a line marked by a reasonable consistency and essential justice acceptable to nations obviously unlike.

Dr. Bowman said "the problem is narrowed for the moment by two solid facts: (1) that three of the four countries signing the Dumbarton Oaks proposals have the indispensable size and strength to make secure a world organization if they will set about it co-operatively; and (2) that the coercion of any one of the principal military powers means a major war."

Pious Hopes Not Enough

"An organization to keep the peace without the means of coercion of an aggressor is futile," he said, "worse than that, it is dangerous. It fosters the illusion that something has been done when nothing has been done except to sign a piece of paper expressing pious hopes.

"The time for action on security measures is here and now," he said. "So far, too little public attention has been directed toward the peaceful settlement of international disputes set out x x x right at the beginning of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals. To invoke peaceful means of settlement is a duty that in time may overshadow collective military measures against aggression."

Dr. Bowman said "the Dumbarton Oaks proposals do not invite the signing of blank checks. I hope it has escaped no one that both the military measures to be contrived by the military staff committee, and the economic and social measures to be worked out by the economic and social council, are subject to treaty ratification.

"We shall minutely examine every article of any treaty that requires our forces to engage in military action on foreign soil."

fected by the ban on seasonal schedules to resorts.

The forthcoming "brown-out," it was tentatively decided, will prohibit the use of electricity, produced from scarce fuels, in:

1. Outdoor advertising, promotional and display lighting.
2. Outdoor decorative and ornamental lighting.
3. Show window lighting.
4. Marquee lighting.
5. White Way street lighting in excess of the amount determined by local authorities to be necessary for public safety.
6. Outdoor sign lighting except for directional or identification signs certified to be necessary by local public authorities for fire and police protection, traffic control, hospitals, doctors, or similar community services essential for public health and safety.

The proposed provisions of the order were announced today following a meeting of representatives of both private and government-operated public utilities with the War Production Board's Office of War Utilities.

The order will apply to all fuels "in short supply," including coal and fuel oil. Lighting generated from hydro-electric plants and plants using gas, in areas where gas is plentiful, will not be affected.

Superforts Bomb Singapore, Raid Japan's Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—Superforts, again demonstrating their seven-league boots, today scourged the great naval base of Singapore and vexed Tokyo with a few fire bombs.

A "medium force," an expression indicating about forty B-29s, roared in from India to plaster the tip of the Malay peninsula with "good results," the War department announced.

Tokyo radio, devoting much of its time these days to the B-29 subject, said three Saipan-based Superfortresses made nuisance raids over the Japanese capital. They are not to be discounted, the Japanese well know, for several big smashes at the home island of Honshu have followed these one, two and three-plane expeditions.

Hit Singapore Docks

The Singapore strike, in early daylight, was made by the Twentieth Bomber Command headquarters in India. Superforts first hit Singapore dry dock facilities on Nov. 5. The round trip of more than 3,500 miles is the record for daylight flights by military planes on a mission.

In spite of bad weather over the target, the pilots said they saw bombs hit the drydocks and naval installations of the mighty base stolen from Britain in Japan's onrushing March of 1942.

None of the B-29s was lost despite fighter opposition, one fought off twenty Zeros.

Part of Master Plan

The raid seemed to be a segment in the master plan for liberation of the Philippines. Some of the Japanese ships crippled in the big engagements that preceded the Leyte invasion probably crawled to Singapore for repairs. It is a big staging base also for fleet units that might try to come to the rescue of the enemy garrisons on Luzon.

The War department communique indicated that the Japanese may have been caught off guard by the first wave of Superfortresses. It said only meagre and inaccurate ack-ack was thrown up. Four enemy fighter planes were shot down, one was listed as a probable and twelve damaged.

Marines Get Action In Practice Bombing

MOJAVE, Calif.—(AP)—Metal-lined ammunition cases filled with old engine oil and unusable gasoline add realism to attacks on "His Imperial Majesty's, the Son of Heaven's Royal Landing Strip No. 13," as Marines call their practice bombing target on the Mojave desert. State Tax Boost Is Indefensible

GOVERNOR O'CONOR apparently has become obsessed with postwar plans to the exclusion of the more pressing immediate problem of winning the war to which citizens of Maryland, along with other Americans, are giving their wholehearted full endeavor, financially as well as otherwise. Their financial contribution has not only been demonstrated by uncomplaining payment of heavy wartime federal taxes, but also by the splendid record they set up in the various War loan drives, particularly the sixth.

It is with a feeling of great disappointment accompanied with indignation that Marylanders now read that the governor proposes to let a state income tax boost of fifty per cent for payment this year on 1944 incomes ride in spite of his widely heralded statement that they would not have any new taxes nor any increases in existing tax rates to pay this year, which position was accorded due commendation.

There is a compelling reason why the state income tax should not be increased this year in addition to the factor of other heavy tax payments. This has been set forth in these columns. It is, simply, that the present tax rates have produced some $8,900,000 more than has been been necessary for the cost of operating the state government, some $2,000,000 of which has been earmarked for postwar purposes and standing obligations.

As this newspaper has declared, it might be justifiable to increase the state income tax rates if it were necessary to meet expenditures, even though these may be imprudent and clothed with some degree of extravagance, but no excuse can be seen for permitting the rates to proudce more revenues than are actually needed save perhaps for some reasonable excess for unforeseen contingencies. To keep on piling up an inordinate state surplus at this time just doesn't make sense.

Governor O'Conor is clearly on the wrong track. It is to be hoped his associates in the state government will persuade him to change his mind regarding this unnecessary and unwarranted income tax boost. In any event the burden taxpayers of the state should do something about it, as they are setting out to do in this community and county.

A boost in the state income tax for this year is indefensible in any way you look at it.

Jap Big Shots Do Some Discounting

A MONTH AGO Japanese Premier Koiso described the Philippine Islands as "a vital area which must be held secure." Later he declared the fighting in the Philippines would "decide the trend of the war." And now comes Masanori Ito, a Japanese military commentator, with the statement that "even though she should lose the Battle of the Philippines, Japan would not lay down her arms."

Well, nobody expects Japan to lay down its arms if it loses the Philippines. The Japanese apparently have to learn their lessons the hard way and the Allied board of strategy plans to hold class exactly along those lines. But the sequence of the three statements above is interesting. It almost looks as if Japanese military experts are trying to discount defeat. Certainly it's a far cry from that arrogant business about dictating peace terms in the White House.

But no matter how many statements are made by Japanese military experts or how much they may seek to discount the loss of this or that battle, the United States is committed to the policy of carrying the war to the Japanese homeland and enforcing Japan's unconditional surrender. There is no tendency to minimize the toughness of that job, but neither is there any doubt that that is the way the war will be won.

Superable Differences

IT IS ALL TO THE GOOD that President Roosevelt has forewarned the American people that they need not expect all the differences among the major Allies to be settled at the projected conference of the chief executive with Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill. The president himself indicated that he does not hope to settle all differences among the Allies at that conference. That would be a superjob for a superman.

The high hope which many Americans possess that President Roosevelt can bring about perfect Allied unity at any conference of the Big Three is complimentary in the extreme to the chief executive, but it does not take into account the fact that tremendous issues are involved. In acknowledging that differences among the Allies existed, President Roosevelt implied that they concerned European political and territorial problems. Anyone who knows the history of Europe realizes that these problems cannot be solved overnight.

So it is just as well that Americans do not hope for more than the president himself expects to accomplish. Otherwise, there would result more disillusionment as well as a strong tendency to conclude that the differences among the Allies can never be settled. This could only result in an armament race after the war.

Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, said in a recent address that "our enemies can no longer hope to win an affirmative and decisive victory. But they can hope—their propaganda shows that they do hope—that by local successes they may prolong the war until dissension among the Allies might earn them a compromise peace and time to get ready for the next war."

Mr. Davis cautioned against inflaming the differences among the Allied nations and against making them seem worse than they are. As Mrs. Roosevelt said recently, everyone must remember that Germany and Japan are our enemies.

But conceding that some differences among the Allies will continue to exist, it is imperative that the president make known his views with a firmness consonant with the ideals and the strength of the country he represents. Americans who have heard the views of Allied leaders expressed with frank determination harbor the justifiable belief that American opinion on world affairs should be expressed with similar firmness.

An Efficient Management That Deserves Support

EFFICIENCY IN GOVERNMENT is one of the principal things sought by all well-meaning citizens. Particularly is this true with regard to local government. When a capable official is placed in an office and he makes good in it, the people are quick to realize his fitness and, accordingly retain him in office.

Following up the observations made by this newspaper with regard to the belated, outdated and impolitical proposal to reduce the Cumberland city water rates a dollar or two a year on the score of "relief," an addition observation seems in order.

It is that there is and has been for quite some time real efficiency in the operation of the city water department and wise foresight in its governing policy. William J. Edwards, water commissioner, has not only been an efficient director of the department but he has effected a number of reforms and improvements in its conduct. Principally these have had to do with the accounting system, where improvement had been long needed. The water department has vastly improved and further improvements are gradually being made under Edward's direction, albeit these have been considerably retarded by lack of materials and other restraints occasioned by the war effort. Even in the normal course the improvements were made in progressive manner as opportunity and conditions have made possible, there having been no disposition to carry them out suddenly or drastically or beyond available means.

The point made here is that, having an efficient department and an efficient director, he is entitled to support of his program and his policy looking to plant improvements in the postwar period, as well as that of operations, should be upheld. Edwards has shown that revenues will be needed to carry out the program envisioned not by himself alone but in accordance with the general community improvement program with which it is naturally tied that it to be prosecuted when peace comes.

Therefore it seems wise for the citizens of this community and his colleagues in city office to stand by Edwards and his program. There is nothing revolutionary about it. It conforms to good business principles and wise fiscal judgment. It is making for an efficiency in local government the citizens undoubtedly desire on the whole. As it has been so signally produced in this department, it would be foolish not to continue it there, and it cannot be if it is hamstrung by false notions of tax relief which would certainly be of a fleeting nature considering the necessities which the future holds forth.

I Met a Gentleman

By MARSHALL MASLIN

He looked shabby. He was slightly drunk. He asked me for a quarter and told me that he was a gentleman. . . I gave him the money and tried to pay no attention to his insistence that he was a gentleman.

There had been three points to consider. I wanted to give him the quarter because he needed it. I resisted a little because he was drunk—and also because he was so sure of his gentility.

What did I care whether he was a gentleman or not? How did he know he was, anyway? What IS a gentleman? Do gentlemen go around, slightly drunk and asking strangers for money or is gentlemaniness so ingrained in a man that he never mentions either to himself or to others?

Don't ask me—I wouldn't know. . . But once more than a quarter of a century ago I think I met a gentleman, although I couldn't even see his face in the dark and this story may remind some young soldiers of today that their fathers were pretty rugged, too.

I was driving an ambulance full of wounded men on a very dark night and I found myself up a road that was blocked by fallen tree. Trying to turn around in the dark and rain and the mud I backed off too far and couldn't get the car back onto the road. The wheels spun and we sank deeper and deeper. . . I was too old to cry but not too old to wish I could. Desperately I wondered what to do, fearful that too long a delay might mean increased risk or even death for some of my passengers. I stood behind the car in the mud and pushed and cursed the luck that had deprived me of a rider-assistant that night.

And then out of the dark night a gruff voice at my shoulder came: "Wait a minute, bud, and I'll give you a hand!" It was one of my passengers. "Sure you can?" I asked. "Sure!" he said, and fumbled with the back gate to open it . . . Down he came and stood beside me, a burly fellow, in the mud and thrust his heavy shoulder against the car and gave a mighty thrust and it moved out onto the harder ground. . . And he gasped and held on for a moment to the machine.

Then I looked down and saw—that his leg had been shot away below the knee! He said nothing about it and neither did I. But I helped him into the car and pushed up the gate and off we went. . . I missed him at the hospital and never saw him again. But there, strangers, was a gentleman!

Roosevelt Is Reported As Indifferent And Fearful of Labor on Draft Issue

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. — The Republican champions of a workers draft act think Mr. Roosevelt was spoofing them when he advocated it in his annual message to Congress.

New York Representative James W. Wadsworth publicly was quoted as saying the president would have to lend the measure more than lip service, or he would not even introduce it again.

The other co-author, Vermont's Senator Austin, has been growling off the record for months that he was hoodwinked when the president endorsed the measure a year ago and then left the fight for it to Gen. Marshall and Adm. King, who could not swing Congress then and cannot now.

Stalling Is Suspected

The common story thus has sprung up that Mr. Roosevelt is merely going through the motions of leadership on the measure because it would be embarrassing for him to resist such an important demand from his army and navy leaders, yet does not wish to push the matter to a successful conclusion because the labor unions have been bitter against it.

He is just shoving a politically unpopular issue raised by the armed services upon a Congress he knows will reject it—they suspect.

There may have been something in this interpretation up to now, but certain quite unmistakable changes on the inside have become apparent and some surprises may be developing. An outspoken senatorial opponent of the workers draft, for instance, declined public comment on Mr. Hoosevelt's message, but privately said he had been so shocked by recent developments on the western front, (shortages) he believed critical war conditions had grown sufficiently bad to justify the legislation.

Furthermore, the unions have gathered so much power in the last year that a question has arisen as to whether Mr. Roosevelt might not like to get a rein on them himself. The legislation would give him a hold on the unions.

More Ardor Possible

People now laugh at the politically-minded unionist in the White House having such a thought, but talk about a possible national coal strike in the spring is being heard. Would not the president like to use a draft act on John L. Lewis? More ardor from the White House for the legislation is possible this year, I think.

Inner workings on compulsory military training are somewhat different. Until a few weeks ago there was no detectable opposition to taking all youths 18 to 21 into army camps for a year as the War department was proposing. Then churchmen began to dissent, and now Republican House leader Martin suggests it would be a good idea to wait until peace. There are enough Democrats of similar mind to make a majority.

At the moment, it appears quite possible Congress will drag out its committee discussions of this question as well as the workers draft.

Peace Would Kill It

If it is delayed until peace, most people think it will be killed entirely. War enthusiasm then will have cooled, in case the peace is anything like Mr. Roosevelt's promises of how good it will be.

This possibility of killing all plans for military education of the youth seems to me to be as dangerous as the army plan to draft a year of each youth's life. Military subjects can be made compulsory in the schools and colleges without building a federal youth camp system, depriving boys of a year of their business lives, and the national guard can be expanded to the efficiency of a real guard of the nation without accepting a totalitarian youth system.

Yet these or any other real democratic methods of future national defense preparations for youths are today unchampioned by any authority in the administration or in Congress. The army eventually may show sense enough to present a detailed program along these democratic lines.

Military Controls Expand

This brings me to another, deeper phase of the inner workings behind these compulsion programs. The army and navy have now practically taken control of domestic economics and business. The businessmen who have left the War Production Board formerly fought for civilian supplies against army and navy demands. Now the civilian interest remains practically unrepresented directly, except by an inconsequential bureau, and the requirements of the armed services are guiding economic policies and decisions.

This trend of army and navy power in government will continue to expand.

Babson Advises Fair Profit Take On Rail Stocks

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., Jan. 11—Wall Street is always too bearish or too bullish. These brokers are honest, but very temperamental. Two years ago, when railroad stocks were selling for thirty per cent of their present prices, the average Wall Streeter would not touch them. Today, at three times those 1942 prices, they are urging that rails be purchased.

Many good things can be said for the railroads. They have done a wonderful job during the war and are entitled to much credit. Many of the roads have reduced their debt or now have large bank accounts. Also, they are benefitting from low rates. They have a better standing with the government because they have demonstrated they are essential to winning the war. The United States will henceforth protect its railroads as a part of any program for military preparedness.

It also should be remembered that the railroads must, to some extent, share with any prosperity ahead. If we are to have a postwar national income of from $100 to $120 billions a year, the railroads' postwar gross earnings must exceed their prewar earnings. This I believe is possible, but I ask, "Have the prices of most railroad stocks and income bonds not already more than discounted this?"

Disadvantages of Rails

The gross earnings of the railroads will, however, not increase proportionately to the national income. The railroads will have much more competition after the war than before. The new great pipe lines which have been built will take away much of their oil business. The resumption of both coastwise shipping and river transportation should materially reduce the earnings of such roads as Atlantic Coast Line, Seaboard and Illinois Central. Southern Pacific, Atchison and other transcontinentals will suffer from the opening of the Panama canal. Also they will have more airplane and bus competition.

Most railroads are today in poor shape physically. They must spend billions after the war,—not only for new equipment—but for maintenance of roadbeds, tracks, bridges, stations, etc. This maintenance is being greatly neglected today. Personally, I had much rather buy the stocks of companies which sell equipment to the railroads than to buy the stocks of the railroads.

Inflation and Labor

Some brokers claim that the railroads will profit from inflation, but I don't see this unless they get a greater increase in freight rates. All these must be approved by the I. C. C. and these bureaucrats act very slowly. Increased rates seldom keep up to the increase in the prices of the hundreds of things which the railroads must buy.

Inflation will result in higher living costs which will mean that railroad labor will demand increased wages. Railroad engineers, firemen, conductors, freight men, station agents and common labor are well organized. As soon as the war is over they will demand higher wages and will get them. In fact, during peacetimes, railroad labor has "skimmed the cream" about as fast as it rises, leaving only the skimmed milk for investors.

Net Earnings Important

Although equipment concerns and railroad labor profit from large railroad gross earnings, yet we may see such greater gross earnings during the postwar period without investors profiting therefrom. Investors are interested only in what the railroads have left as net earnings after the increases in the cost of labor, equipment, supplies, etc. I now see little chance for increased net earnings. Most things point to lower postwar net.

Most holders of railroad stocks admit that lower net earnings and lower stock prices are ahead for the rails; but ninety per cent of investors say: "We will wait until the war is over before selling." I reply: "Tell me who is going to buy the rails when all you present holders try to sell at one time?"

Conclusions

Begin now to unload rail stocks and income bonds. Don't try to "hit the top". The fellows who buy from you must have some chance for a profit in order for them to risk buying rails. Don't be a hog; but be satisfied with a fair profit. The longer we keep a good fish dangling on a hook, the better are his chances of getting off! Then we lose him altogether.

Moscow Pledge Smokescreen Is Now Suspected

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—There's a mystery in the international situation which needs clearing up if the public is to decide whether Russia or Britain or the United States is at fault in the present controversy over application of the Atlantic Charter.

For several days now it has become evident that the British press and certain American observers are calling for a definition of American foreign policy and are saying that the United States government has refused to accept responsibility in connection with the formation of governments in Greece and Italy.

It is further asserted that solutions are not available and that the subject of what kind of a government to establish in the liberated countries is not one that can be determined in advance and so on.

Blunder Smokescreen

All of this looks like a smokescreen to cover up somebody's blunder. Do the British writers know what has been happening behind the scenes and has some of this propaganda of criticism, really directed at President Roosevelt, been issued on the American side of the Atlantic?

The fact is that the governments of the United States, Great Britain and Russia entered into a solemn agreement to recommend joint action in handling the problems presented in Greece and Italy. Did the United States back out? Did Britain go it alone and fail to consult the United States? Did Russia take action alone in recognizing the Lublin government in Poland?

The American people are entitled to know what happened to the following pledge entered into at Moscow and announced on November 1, 1943, as the agreement of the Russian, British and American governments:

Co-operation Pledged

"The conference agreed to set up machinery for insuring the closest co-operation between the three governments in the examination of European questions arising as the war develops. For this purpose the conference decided to establish in London a European advisory commission to study these questions and to make joint recommendations to the three governments.

"Provision was made for continuing, when necessary, tripartite consulations of representatives of the three governments in the respective capitals through the existing diplomatic channels.

"The conference also agreeed to establish an advisory council for matters relating to Italy, to be composed in the first instance of representatives of their three governments and of the French Committee of National Liberation. Provision is made for the addition to this council of representatives of Greece and Yugoslavia in view of their special interests arising out of the aggressions of fascist Italy upon their territory during the present war. This council will deal with day-to-day questions, other than military operations, and will make recommendations designed to co-ordinate Allied policy with regard to Italy."

The foregoing agreement gave the European Advisory Commission a job to do. Did it make recommendations and were they ignored? Did the commission fail to do its job, and does this mean that high-sounding pledges are being given to the world only to be lost in a maze of commissions that never act?

Napping Is Charged

On Capitol Hill the whispers are beginning to be circulated that Mr. Roosevelt was caught napping and failed to see to it that the European Advisory Commission did function. Another rumor is that he by-passed his own commission and dealt personally with these matters at the top level and that this is the meaning of the amazing statement made by Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons that he told Mr. Roosevelt all about the plans for Greece and for Italy and that we acquiesced.

In certain circles close to the administration all this is vehemently denied. It is stated positively that the American government did not agree to anything. But it still remains to be explained why the European Advisory Commission didn't functions and who made a scrap of paper of the above quoted agreement reached at Moscow.

THE MEAT SITUATION • January, 1945

WHERE'S THE MEAT?

The other day the American Meat Institute got a letter from an American citizen asking a direct question. The letter says:

"Who is getting all those steaks? Certainly we are not getting them at home. According to my friends at the front, they are not getting them, either."

The answer is:
Mighty few of those steaks are going to the front lines.

The greatest quartermaster corps in the world can't serve charcoal-broiled steaks in foxholes, or pork tenderloins on a beachhead.

This is a war of movement, and soldiers on the move—in tanks, in planes, in trucks, or on foot—naturally get concentrated, easily transported rations that do not require refrigeration.

Even in peacetimes, there never were enough choice steaks in this country to go around.

GREATEST GOVERNMENT NEEDS IN HISTORY

Now the government has stepped up its purchase of all meats. Out of a decreasing supply, it is getting about one-third of the total production of the meat-packing industry . . . nearly half of the choice cuts.

Where do those choice cuts go? Who gets them?

They are going to our fighting forces behind the lines . . . to established army and navy bases, to military rest homes, to training centers, to military and naval hospitals, and onto ships with refrigeration facilities.

Under war conditions three times as much meat per fighter must be available as he ate as a civilian. Why? War destroys some. Some must be left behind. Some must be ready at destinations. Meat and plenty of it is a must in fighters' diets.

Your meat industry's job is to prepare good meat for our fighters, whether it's C rations for a tank crew, steaks for the men in a submarine or on a warship, or chops for chow in a rest camp. Who would question their needs at a time like this?

What About Civilians?

In the weeks to come civilians should, according to government estimates for the country as a whole, have an average of slightly less than 2½ pounds of meat per week—rationed and unrationed. This compares with somewhat more than 3 pounds per week per person during the corresponding weeks of 1944.

How can you manage? Make the most of the meat you get. Learn how to serve more meat meals with less. Serve it with other good foods to "extend" its flavor. Then you can keep the fine flavor and good nutrition of meat on the table regularly.

Remember—regardless of cut or kind, price or points, meat is a yardstick of protein foods, because meat measures up to every protein need.

Midland Soldier Injured in Camp; Arm Is Amputated

MIDLAND, Jan. 11—Pvt. Robert McMillan, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMillan, Jr., Midland, has had his right arm amputated above the elbow after being seriously injured in line of duty Wednesday at Fort Knox, Ky., according to word received by his parents yesterday.

An army chaplain at Fort Knox telephoned Father J. L. Kilkenny, a Catholic priest in Midland, after the accident occurred, and Father Kilkenny informed Pvt. McMillan's parents. Pvt. McMillan's commanding officer sent word to his parents yesterday that their son's condition is good. No details regarding the accident have been received.

A former student at Beall high school, Frostburg, Pvt. McMillan was employed at the Kelly-Springfield plant before entering the army last September 8. He has been stationed at Fort Knox with an armored infantry outfit since that time. His grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McMillan, live in Lonaconing.

A brother, Cpl. Edward McMillan, 20, who is serving with the marine corps in the Pacific war zone, went overseas last July.

NLRB Agents Called Greatest Violators Of Federal Law

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — The executive board of the National Federation of Telephone Workers declared today that National Labor Relations board "agents are the greatest violators of the National Labor Relations act's provisions dealing with interference, discrimination, and coercion."

Condemning the NLRB for what it termed "discriminatory attitude in cases affecting independent unions," the Union said that the NLRB "has adopted a theory which guarantees to workers 'free choice' in the selection of unions, provided the union has received the previous endorsement of the NLRB."

The NFTW statement, issued shortly after an executive session, accused the national agency of an "apparent sell-out to CIO unions."

The NLRB's policy, the union asserted, was one of "ignoring or discussing charges of company domination against CIO unions, whereas it appears to welcome similar charges against independent unions."

Night Club Closings Not Idea of OPA

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 11 (AP)—Dr. James S. Thomas, deputy OPA director for Florida, said today that he was speaking as a private citizen when he forecast a government shutdown on night clubs to curb absenteeism among war workers.

"I have no pipe line to Washington," Thomas declared. "I was not speaking for the OPA."

Thomas, who was quoted as saying that Washington authorities are seriously considering asking night clubs to close for the duration explained today that he intended merely commenting on a news report to that effect.

Thomas said that he expressed the personal opinion that patronage of night clubs by war workers resulted in absenteeism.

Gulland-Dickey Marriage In 1936 Is Announced

Wedding Ceremony Was Solemnized in Smithsburg Methodist Church

Mrs. Howard H. Dickey announced the marriage of her daughter, Miss Elizabeth Roberts Dickey, to Thomas Cresap Gulland, son of Mrs. William Gulland, 628 Washington street, at a dinner given for members of the immediate families last evening at her home, 218 Washington street.

The wedding ceremony was solemnized October 3, 1936 in the Smithsburg Methodist church parsonage, with the Rev. C. M. Huddle, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Gulland, through her mother, Mrs. Annie Roberts Dickey, is a decendent of two prominent Cumberland families, the Humbird and Roberts. Her father, the late Howard H. Dickey organized the United States Rail Company here and was associated with his father, William C. Dickey of Philadelphia, Pa., in the Taylor Tin Plate Mill, also of this city. Mrs. Gulland attended Allegany high school and was one of the founders of the Junior Volunteer Service Corps, she is also an active member of the Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and the Red Cross Canteen.

Mr. Gulland is a seventh generation decendent of Col. Thomas Cresap, through his mother, Mrs. Bessie Rebecca Dart; his father the late William Gulland was born in Dundee, Scotland, and was president of the J. C. Orrick Company. A graduate of Mercersburg Academy, Mr. Gulland for a time was associated in business with his father, before accepting a position with the Powell Publicity Service. He is now administrative assistant at the Allegany Ordnance plant.

Mr. and Mrs. Gulland left last evening for a trip to New York City and will be at home to their friends at 628 Washington street, after January 18.

Guild Will Meet

The Wesleyan Guild of Centre Street Methodist church will hold its monthly dinner-meeting at 6 o'clock January 16 at the church. A program will be presented under the direction of Miss Mildred DeMoss, vicepresident.

A business meeting will follow, with Miss Margaret Lester, new president, presiding, and the organization for the coming year will be completed and plans and programs announced.

Officers of Maryland Camp No. 4770, Royal Neighbors of America will be installed by Mrs. Mary Gray, state oracle, assisted by Mrs. Carolyn Walsh, district deputy, at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the Junior Order hall.

The officers to be installed are: Mrs. Bessie O'Rourke, oracle; Mrs. Carrie Poling, vice oracle; Mrs. Naomi Briggs, past oracle; Mrs. Jessie, chancelor; Mrs. Louise Twigg, recorder.

Mrs. Ruth McNabb, receiver; Mrs. Mary Gray, marshal; Mrs. Hazel Lowery, assistant marshal; Mrs. Elvira Dilfer, inner sentinel; Mrs. Ella Kastner, outer sentinel; Mrs. Addie Cunningham, manager for one year; Miss Eleanor Brown, manager for two years; Mrs. Pearl Metz, manager three years; Mrs. Carrie Walsh, district deputy; Mrs. Anna Hoffman, flag bearer, and Mrs. Metz, musician.

A social hour will be held following the ceremonies, with Mrs. O'Rourke in charge.

The state convention of the Royal Neighbors will be held here some time in April. Plans are being formulated and committees will be named at the next meeting. Mrs. Walsh is the delegate from the local camp with Mrs. Poling as alternate.

Sorority Meets

Alumni Chapter of Eta Upsilon Gamma sorority welcomed Mrs. George Perdew, who has been visiting her husband, stationed in Florida, back into the sorority and held an exhibit of souvenirs, including a hand embroidered picture sent to Mrs. Whiting Linaburg by her soldier husband from France; at the meeting earlier in the week at the home of Miss Dorothy Kaplon, Shriver avenue.

Miss Lillian Boughton reviewed "The Queen Was in the Kitchen," and distributed copies of the national chapter publication. Mrs. Paul Goldsworthy reported on the sorority's philanthropic work and Mrs. John Wieland read a number of letters and cards received by the chapter.

Mrs. Perdew will be hostess for the February meeting, which will feature a white elephant sale.

Entertain Circle

Mrs. James White and Mrs. Robert W. Fink entertained members of St. Margaret's Circle of Emmanuel Episcopal church with a dessert-bridge party Wednesday evening at their home, Washington street.

Preceding the play plans were formulated for a rummage sale to be held sometime in March, the exact date to be set at the meeting February 7 at the home of Mrs. David C. Watson, Prospect square.

Four tables were in play and prizes were won by Miss Edwena Kraus, Mrs. Wilbur M. Buchanan and Mrs. William Leyhe.

CELEBRATE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin G. McElfish

State Teachers Alumni Will Honor Dr. Dunkle

Luncheon Will Be Given in College Dining Hall January 20

Frostburg State Teachers College Alumni Association will honor Dr. John L. Dunkle with a luncheon at 1 o'clock January 20 in the college dining hall. Dr. Dunkle will retire February 1, after serving as president of the college for the past twenty-one years.

A native of West Virginia Dr. Dunkle was appointed head of the department of Pedagogy at the state teachers college at Towson in 1917, and six years later was named principal of the normal school at Frostburg. He became president of that institution in 1935, by an act of the general assembly, when the school became a state teachers' college.

Earl Brain, principal of Beall elementary school, will serve as toastmaster and James E. Spitznas, county school supervisor, will be the principal speaker. Besides a few short talks the program will also include musical numbers.

Miss Margaret Doak is president of the association; Miss Frances Crist, vice president; Miss Mildred Beck, secretary and Miss Elizabeth Flake, treasurer. Miss Jane Botsford is chairman of invitations; Miss Margaret Jones, entertainment chairman; Miss Annie Gray, chairman of program covers and Miss Bernice Winner is assisting.

A large number of reservations have already been made, Miss Crist reports and urges anyone planning to attend contact her before January 15.

North End Junior Music and Arts Club Has Meeting

The North End Junior Music and Arts Club presented a program at its meeting earlier in the week at Central YMCA with Mrs. Richard W. Trevaskis presiding. The children taking part were Willard Bradfield, Joan Bradfield, Carole Reith, Ruth Schade, Patricia Close and Carole Burke.

Any children of North End, who are music students are invited to join the club, which was one of a number recently joining the Maryland Federation of Music Clubs, through Mrs. Thomas Pickering, district chairman. Others recently federated are St. Mark's Junior choir, Mrs. Kenneth Beck, director; and the Snyder Piano Studio group, Miss Louise Snyder, councilor.

Chiropractors And Wives Are Guests at Party

Dr. E. W. Larson entertained members of Western Maryland Chiropractors Association and their wives with a dinner party last evening at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. A crystal bowl of pink and white snapdragons centered the table. Corsages of sweetpeas and pompoms were given as favors to each of the ladies and a boutonniere of pompoms to each member.

Following the dinner the men held a business session, with Dr. A. N. Golladay presiding and the women had a bridge party.

Dr. Larson was elected president; Dr. George X. Barry, vice-president; and Dr. Adam Baer, Frostburg, secretary-treasurer. The next meeting will be held at the office of Dr. F. F. Lookenott, 186 North Centre street, March 8.

John Mellon Is Honored at Party

A farewell party was given in honor of John Mellon, son of Mrs. James Mellon, Thomas street, prior to his leaving Tuesday night for training as a cadet at Keesler field, Miss. He is known as "Happy," to his friends and prior to his induction was an employee of the Community Service Market. He graduated from Fort Hill high school with the class of 1944.

The house was decorated in the patriotic motif, with a red, white and blue color scheme carried out and a miniature soldier and flags centering the table. Covers were laid for forty-eight guests.

Albert Tomsko, the honor guest's employer, gave a talk of congratulations to John on his splendid work and co-operation for the past two and one half years. He also commented on his honesty and cheerfulness and popularity.

John has a brother, James, serving with the army overseas. He took part in the D-day invasion and recently received his glider wings.

Others who attended the party and will leave for service within the next two weeks are James Mathews, Melvin Mease and Kenny Hensel.

Allegany Nursing School Plans Extension Courses

First Course in "Clinical Teaching" Will Open on January 30

Allegany Hospital School of Nursing has affiliated with the Catholic University, Washington, D. C., to conduct extension courses here for the preparation in nursing education of its graduate staff, while allowing them to retain their positions in essential nursing, the director of the school of nursing announces.

The first course will open January 30. Classes will be conducted by Miss Carmela Guarino, B.S., M. Ed., R. N., each Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock in the class room in the Allegany hospital nurses home. The course will be on, "Clinical Teaching." When the fifteen week course is completed the student will be entitled to a university credit, which may be applied towards getting a degree. Classes will be limited to from twenty-five to thirty students.

The contract affiliating the hospital with the university was signed earlier this week by the director of nurses of Allegany Hospital School of Nursing, and Dr. Roy J. Deferrari, chairman of the committee of affiliation and extension, and secretary general of the university.

Graduate nurses from Memorial hospital and the Allegany county health unit will also take advantage of this opportunity. Fifteen Allegany nurses have signed the contract to take the course and tentative arrangements have been made by six nurses from the health unit and six or more from Memorial hospital.

Class Will Meet

The Loomis Bible class of First Baptist church will meet at 7:45 o'clock Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. James Corfield, 407 Columbia street, at which time class sisters for the past six months will be revealed and new ones chosen for the ensuing year. Routine business will also be transacted.

An entertainment program will also be presented under the chairmanship of Mrs. Corfield, assisted by Mrs. F. L. Decker, Mrs. O. T. Curtis, and Mrs. S. F. Davis. All members are asked to attend.

Bake Sale Planned

Lurana Veteran Unit of the Catholic Students Mission Crusade will hold a bake sale January 17 at St. Patrick's Social Center; and observe Communion Sunday, January 14. Plans were formulated at the meeting at the home of Mrs. John Aman, Hay street.

Miss Philomena DeArcangelis will be hostess for the next meeting at her home, 217 Hay street.

...een-Agers Flock to "Shangri La" ...o Eat, Drink (Pop) and Be Merry

...E LIGHT FANTASTIC—Youngsters enjoy good dining and dancing ...a glamorous night club where liquor is banned.

By AUDREY BRENT
Newsfeatures

...DETROIT — Several hundred ...agers in suburban areas north ...Detroit have found a "Shangri-La" James Hilton never dreamed about. And as in the story, there's one stipulation to this place: Once you leave you can't come back.

This "Shangri-La" is a novel night club, complete with dim lights, soft music, and exotic decorations—but no liquor.

Teen-agers who go there to dance and sip soft drinks from 9 until 2 in the morning can leave at any time, but they are not permitted to return the same night. There has not been a single case of boys or girls leaving to get a "nip" from a bittle, or visiting a nearby bar for "a short one."

"Boys and girls of the teen-age group have to go some place for entertainment," says Fotis Takis, owner of the club. "Because they can't drink doesn't mean they can't dance. When they drink it's because they see others doing it and because they like the atmosphere and the music furnished in night clubs where liquor is served."

The club is located in Royal Oak, fifteen miles from downtown Detroit. There is a five-piece orchestra, prepared to play the hottest jive, but it has been swamped with requests for slow dreamy music. Novelty "swing" numbers are popular, however.

The teen-agers think the club is "swell," although many complain about the admission—$1.00 a person, plus the price of soft drinks and sandwiches.

To such complaints, Takis says the club currently operates at a loss. The receipts from soft drinks and sandwiches in a week is not enough, he says to meet one night's overhead. But Takis is making good the losses out of his own pocket, mainly because he thinks he eventually will make profits. Takis, who has taken in a small fortune at his other night club, "Kingsley Inn," aims to make "Shangri La" pay by specializing in good food. If he can get enough customers for meals, he reasons, his losses on the younger crowd will be more than offset. The biggest problem to date has been the "help" situation.

"It's really a job to impress on waitresses who are used to dollar tips that the kids are entitled to as much service for their ten cents as the best-tipping customers," Takis says.

Speaker Accents Effective Use Of Womanpower

Miss Augusta H. Clawson Addresses Counselors at Meetings Here

Effective use of womanpower in industry was stressed by Miss Augusta H. Clawson, special agent of the United States Office of Education, in the first two sessions of a sixteen-hour conference for local industrial and mercantile counselors for women yesterday in the Allegany County Board of Education building, Washington street.

Representatives of the personnel department of the Celanese Corporation of America, the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, McCrory's Five-and-Ten Cent store and Rosenbaum Brothers department store attended.

Miss Clawson was employed as a welder at the Henry Kaiser shipyards at Swan Island, Portland, Oregon, for one year, and has conferred with industrial counselors in many other states prior to coming to Maryland.

At these conferences the counselors are given an opportunity to pool their experiences concerning the proper training of women with a view to keeping them on the job, especially in war industries. Miss Clawson said that she is hopeful a permanent association of women counselors will grow out of the many conferences.

Two sessions were conducted yesterday, 9 a. m. to 12 o'clock noon and 1 to 4 p. m. The same schedule will be followed today while tomorrow the final of the series will be held from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Miss Clawson was introduced by H. M. James, formerly of the Allegany County Board of Education, and now assistant director of War Production Training in Maryland. She will conduct a three-day conference in Hagerstown next week.

Fourteen personnel department representatives of the local plants and stores attended yesterday's meetings.

WAC Recruiter Defines New Enlistment Regulations

Applicants who wish to enlist in the WAC as medical technicians may qualify even if they fail to meet the exact requirements, according to Sgt. Ruth Baker, local WAC recruiter.

Sgt. Baker said that some other qualification may be accepted as a substitute if the applicant fails to meet all of the specified requirements as a medical technician.

Enlistment in certain specified WAC jobs will be accepted only upon prior approval of the adjutant general, the recruiter said. Those jobs are tabulating machine operator, draftsman, radio repairman, radio operator, statistical clerk, key punch operator, control tower operator parachute rigger and repairman, radar operator and repairman, airplane engine mechanic, cryptographer and teletype operator.

Sgt. Baker said that typists and stenographers will be enlisted in the WAC upon proof of skill, and will be subject to the usual qualifications. No more enlistments for general assignment will be accepted.

Romance Unites Marines and WAC

First Sgt. Curtis Kime and Pvt. Eleanor Freeland Are Married

Romance has united the marine corps and the WAC.

First Sgt. Curtis McArthur Kime, furloughed policeman now serving his third enlistment in the marines, and Pvt. Eleanor Freeland, formerly of 238 Humbird street, but now stationed at Fort George G. Meade with the WAC, were married December 23 in St. Andrew's chapel at the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis.

The ceremony was performed by Lt. (j. g.) Wilson Bennett, one of the chaplains stationed at the naval academy. First Sgt. and Mrs. Kime are now visiting in Cumberland but will return to their posts on Sunday.

Since rejoining the marines April 22, 1942, First Sgt. Kime has been stationed at the naval academy except for a two-month period when he served at the Philadelphia navy yard.

At the present time he is first sergeant in charge of the marine detachment on board the U. S. S. Reina Mercedes at the naval academy.

In the First World war, First Sgt. Kime was three times decorated with the French Croix de Guerre and received the Purple Heart and Oak Leaf cluster for wounds suffered in action. He also served with the army of occupation in Germany.

During his second enlistment, First Sgt. Kime served aboard ship on a cruise around the world and was with the marine corps expeditionary force at Santo Domingo.

TRAVELERS AID BUYS TICKET FOR NEWSBOY

One of the two 13-year-old Connellsville, Pa., boys who were arrested as runaways early yesterday morning at the Queen City station after, authorities said, they "got tired of the cold and decided to go to Texas where it would be warm," was riding to his home last evening on a ticket provided by the Travelers Aid Society.

When authorities here contacted the homes of the runaway boys yesterday, one of the parents sent the train fare home, but the other parent could not afford to purchase the ticket, police said.

Mrs. M. J. Fleming, executive secretary of the Travelers Aid Society, who was asked to aid the lad, said the lads told her they "had not found traveling pleasant" as they hitch hiked here. One of the boys had on an oversize top coat and the other had no heavy outer garb.

The lad for whom Mrs. Fleming purchased the ticket asked for her name and told her he sold papers in Connellsville and would send the money back to her.

Mrs. Austin C. Kennell, 404 Washington street, a price panel clerk at the local War Price and Rationing Board office, will enter Allegany hospital for a minor operation this morning. Mrs. Kennell's husband, a specialist (C) second class, arrived home yesterday afternoon on a seven-day furlough from the Bainbridge naval training station. He is the son of Mrs. Eliza Kennell, 341 Bedford street.

Fanny Roberts Wilson, petty officer third class, WAVES, returned to the United States Naval Operating Base hospital, Norfolk, Va., after spending a five day leave with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Frank M. Wilson, 518 Washington street. She received her promotion to Pharmacist Mate 3-c while visiting here.

Cadet Dennis E. Perrin returned to Massanutten Military Academy, Woodstock, Va., after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Perrin, Park Heights.

T-Sgt. W. E. Neus returned to Yuma, Ariz., after visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Neus, 609 North Centre street.

Sgt. Harold (Dutch) Noonan is on furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. Mollie Noonan, 315 Broadway, after service in England. He will leave Saturday for Lincoln, Neb.

Pfc. William Radcliffe returned to Fort Benning, Ga., after spending an emergency furlough with his family due to the sudden death of his father, Okey Radcliffe. His mother is Mrs. Minnie Radcliffe, 225 Maple street.

Mrs. Cara Little Ebert, and Mrs. Hylda Paupe, 113 Baltimore street, are on a short trip to New York City.

Aviation Cadet Lawrence Wagner, son of Mrs. Grace Wagner, Route No. 4, Oldtown road, and his wife, who spent the holidays here, have returned to Alabama, where Cadet Wagner will report to Craig field for advanced training.

Mrs. Edgar L. Swartley, 615 Elwood street, is improving at her home, following a minor operation at Allegany hospital.

S-Sgt. George N. Reuschel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Reuschel, 611 Oldtown road, is home on furlough after twenty-five months' service in the Caribbean area.

Mrs. Mable McHugh, Baltimore, a former resident, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Allen J. Bender, 443 North Centre street. Mrs. Bender is ill.

Former Navy Recruiter Visits Family Here

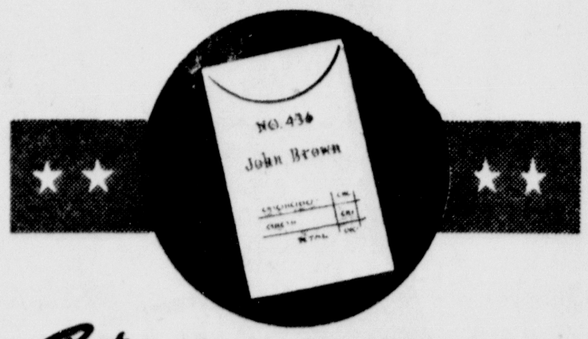

John J. McLean, yeoman first class, who was a navy recruiter here for three years prior to leaving for sea duty last June 1, is spending a brief leave with his wife, Mrs. Marie Louise McLean, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. McLean, 140 Polk street.

Yeoman McLean is stationed aboard an aircraft carrier which has just returned from a shake-down cruise. He will report back to his ship when his leave ends tomorrow.

Church Elects Officers

Five trustees and one deaconess of the First Baptist church were elected at the annual meeting of the church Wednesday evening, with the Rev. Edwin W. Saylor, presiding. Routine business was also transacted.

Trustees to serve for one year are John H. Clark; Theodore Sachs, William T. Sheally, H. D. Whittaker and William A. Miller. Mrs. Theodore Deatelhouser was elected deaconess of the 1947 class.

Guards at Prison Camp Will Be Entertained Sunday

The YMCA Servicemen's Committee asks any young woman who will entertain one of the United States Army guards from the Green Ridge Prisoner of War camp at dinner Sunday at her home, to call the Y, 4438, before 6 o'clock tomorrow evening, Mrs. George Woodworth, chairman announced last night.

Arrangements have been made that each hostess will be presented with two passes for Sunday afternoon to see a picture at a local theater, Mrs. Woodworth said last evening.

The Y committee has sponsored monthly dances for the army personnel at Green Ridge since last August.

LT. COL. J. C. GOLDEN IS HOMEWARD BOUND ON 30-DAY FURLOUGH

Lt. Col. John C. Golden, of Baltimore pike, who was in the thick of the fighting in France and Germany with the Eightieth Infantry Division, is homeward bound for a thirty-day furlough in connection with the army's rotation plan, according to Lee McCardell, Baltimore Sunpapers war correspondent.

Lt. Col. Golden was a member of Company G, Maryland National Guard, for fifteen years before that unit was inducted into federal service. He received a Silver Star from General George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the United States Army, on the latter's tour of inspection of the French fronts.

Sgt. Richard T. Sanders, of Keyser, W. Va., is also listed among the officers and men of the same division coming home for thirty-day furloughs.

Local News in Brief

A memorial service for Cpl. Wilford Valentine, who was killed in action on Guam island last July 26, will be held Sunday at 7:30 p. m. in the First Methodist church, Bedford street. Letters will be read from soldiers who served with Cpl. Valentine, who was a gun captain at the time of his death.

The office of the Associated Charities was moved yesterday from the Public Safety building to the second floor in city hall. The agency will occupy the control center room until health department offices are moved to the Public Safety building at which time the Associated Charities will use the room it formerly occupied on the west side of the second floor, city hall.

Postal Notes Will Go on Sale Feb. 1

Postal notes, a new and inexpensive type of money order, will go on sale at the local post office February 1, according to James C. Shriver, postmaster.

The new postal notes are designed as a safe and economical way of sending through the mails amounts of money not exceeding $10, Shriver said. Simplified methods of sales and accounting make it possible to handle them at a uniform fee of five cents each. They will not displace the conventional type of money order.

Eighteen denominations of stamps and eleven denominations of notes will be issued to the local post office. The stamps will range in value from one to ten cents, with additional stamps valued at twenty, thirty, forty, fifty, sixty, seventy, eighty and ninety cents, respectively. Postal notes will range in value from $1 to $10.

Explaining the procedure that will be followed when the postal notes go on sale, Shriver said that if a person wants a postal note for $2.93 a clerk will affix a ninety-cent stamp and a three-cent stamp to a $2 postal note, and exchange it for $2.98, charging a fee of five cents. The purchaser then writes the name of the payee on the note, detaches a stub on which he records the payee's name, and mails the postal note.

Although the postal notes will go on sale only at first-class post offices February 1, they may be cashed at any post office in the United States, Shriver said.

The postmaster also announced yesterday that non-illustrated post cards will be accepted after January 15 for mailing to civilians in the Netherlands in the cities of Eindhoven, Geldrop, Valkenswaard, Tilburg, Oisterwijk, Boxtel and Schijndel, as well as to all Netherlands territory south of the river Scheldt.

The postage rate for these cards is three cents each. Registration, money order, air mail and parcel post services are not yet available.

Henry Wilson Is Interned in Manila

Mrs. Peter Schweninger, 422 Grand avenue, received a card yesterday from her son, Henry B. Wilson, who has been interned in the city of Manila since the Japanese captured him aboard a merchant vessel in the Philippines shortly after the outbreak of the war.

The card was mailed last May 20. Wilson stated that he was in "fair health" and that he had received his mother's package and letter. The latter was dispatched aboard the Swedish exchange ship Gripsholm in September, 1943.

Wilson is the only Cumberlander of civilian status who is held by the Japanese, as far as is known. Before the war he served as a crew member aboard a merchant vessel in the Pacific.

Mrs. Schweninger was notified last March by the provost marshal's office that her son had been interned by the Japanese. Before receiving his card yesterday she had not heard from him since he was taken prisoner.

Driver Forfeits Bond

George Buskirk, Lonaconing, forfeited $5 bond in police court yesterday morning when he failed to appear for a hearing on a charge of careless driving. He was arrested by Officer Ernest M. Powell, Wednesday evening at the intersection of Baltimore and Mechanic street, after police said, he disregarded a white traffic light.

PAW PAW WORKER HURT WHEN TRACTOR RUNS OVER BODY

A Paw Paw, W. Va., man, Rufus Milburn, is in a "good" condition in Memorial hospital where he was admitted last evening at 7:15 o'clock suffering from a possible fracture of the left hip.

Attaches were told that Milburn was injured yesterday when a tractor ran over both hips. X-rays will be taken to determine the extent of his injuries.

James O'Brien, 4-year-old son of Mrs. Marie O'Brien, 948 Gay street, was treated in Memorial hospital last evening at 6:30 o'clock for second degree burns of the hands, arms and neck. Attaches were told a curtain in the home caught fire from a gas stove and ignited the boy's clothing.

Mrs. Edna Harvey, 22, of 65 Offutt street, was admitted to Memorial hospital yesterday morning suffering from a fractured right ankle suffered, attaches were told, when she slipped on the ice.

Thomas Darr, 52, B. and O. worker, of 349 Bedford street, was treated in Memorial hospital early yesterday afternoon for a severely lacerated second finger of the right hand. Darr told attaches his finger was caught as he was raising a bar while at work in the shops here. The end of the finger was amputated, workers said.

Three Women Leave For WAC Training

Three women of the Cumberland area who were sworn into the WAC at Hagerstown recently, left Wednesday for Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., where they will take their basic training, according to Sgt. Ruth Baker, local WAC recruiter.

They are Miss Georgiana G. Pratt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Pratt, 251 Williams street; Mrs. Joanna Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Whisner, 1017 Virginia avenue, and Mrs. Lena C. Gurtler, wife of Eugene T. Gurtler, Hyndman, Pa.

Miss Pratt, a former student at Fort Hill high school, was sworn into the WAC November 28. Mrs. Davis, who was graduated from Fort Hill high school in 1936, took the oath of enlistment December 6. Mrs. Gurtler, a former student at Hyndman high school, was sworn in November 28. All three are on general assignment, Sgt. Baker said.

One Serviceman Dies; Another Is Missing

Wilmot S. Bannon, 37, who lived here with his grandmother, Mrs. Annie Baldwin, Queen City pavement, eight years ago, died last Friday after a second operation at the Brecksville veterans' hospital.

Bannon received nineteen shrapnel wounds when his tank struck a land mine in the Majava desert, Cal., more than a year ago.

Husband of Mrs. Marguerite Bannon and son of Mr. and Mrs. Clem M. Guth, Okron, O., who survive him, he also leaves a stepson, Jack Wolf, with the army medical corps in France.

Funeral services were held in Akron yesterday. Burial was in Rose hill cemetery there.

Pvt. Albert M. Rush, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Rush, Ellerslie, has been missing in Belgian action since December 18.

A former Allegany high school student, Pvt. Rush entered the army March 13, 1944. He trained at Camp Blanding, Fla., and at Camp Maxey, Texas, before being sent overseas.

His parents first learned that he had been wounded in battle when they received his Purple Heart award later.

Cumberland Savings Bank Re-elects All Officers, Directors

Directors and officers of the Cumberland Savings Bank, 611 Virginia avenue, were re-elected yesterday. The bank, which has more than doubled its assets in the past five years, is now paying a five per cent annual dividend on common stock.

Stockholders re-elected as directors A. G. McElfish, F. Brooke Whiting, W. Floyd Price, A. Weber, Louis Weber, H. T. Mattingly, Joseph M. Conway and Webster K. Edwards.

Officers named by the directors are A. G. McElfish, chairman of the board; F. Brooke Whiting, president and attorney; W. Floyd Price, vice president; Marcus A. Nauchton, cashier, and M. Gayle Knight, assistant cashier.

Eastern Star Will Install Officers

Mrs. Marie Smith will officiate at the joint installation of officers of Cumberland Chapter, No. 56, Order of the Eastern Star and Mc Kinley Chapter, No. 12, Order of the Eastern Star, at 8 o'clock this evening at the temple. Cumberland chapter will be host and Mrs. Margaret Flurshutz, and Olive Morton, retiring worthy matron and patron, will preside.

Assisting Mrs. Smith in the ceremony will be Mrs. Laura Robinson, marshal; Mrs. Elizabeth Lang, chaplain; Mrs. Mabel Pope, organist; Mrs. Harriet Roby, warder and Harold Ashworth, sentinel.

A social hour will conclude the evening with Mrs. Laura Flurshutz, chairman assisted by Mrs. Alice Beightol, Mrs. Alice Atkinson and Mrs. Jessie Resley.

NESTLÉ'S GIVES THE WORLD A GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN EVAPORATED MILK

The New NESTLÉ'S Evaporated Milk — 3 times richer in Vitamin D
A new label—and a new value—at no increase in price. The new NESTLÉ'S Evaporated Milk is three times richer in Vitamin D, and is nutritionally better for babies, growing children—for everyone.
FOR YOUR BABY—Consult your Doctor for correct formula.
This improved milk—under this new label—replaces NESTLÉ'S Every Day.
THESE TWO SEALS APPEAR ON EVERY CAN OF NESTLÉ'S EVAPORATED MILK
This Seal of Acceptance denotes that NESTLÉ'S Milk and nutritional claims made for it are acceptable to the Council on Foods of the American Medical Association.
The seal of a nationally-famous research organization—your assurance of the Vitamin-D potency of NESTLÉ'S Milk.
This new NESTLÉ'S Milk meets a vital need
—because each pint supplies 400 units of Vitamin D, now specified as the minimum daily requirement by U. S. food officials.
For years, many medical men have been asking: "Are babies and growing children getting the proper amount of Vitamin D under today's living conditions?"
More Vitamin D needed, Science finds
The conclusion reached from hundreds of scientific feeding tests was that infants and growing children need at least 400 Vitamin-D units daily.
Authorities also concluded that extra Vitamin D is necessary for adults, too.
So Nestlé's has perfected and now offers the new, improved NESTLÉ'S Evaporated Milk. It has all the fine qualities of NESTLÉ'S Every Day PLUS added Vitamin D—the form of Vitamin D that occurs naturally in cod liver oil and a form that is produced naturally in the human body by sunshine.
One pint now supplies 400 USP units ... the full minimum daily requirement of Vitamin D specified for infants, children and adults by the U. S. Food and Drug Administration.
Here's what the new NESTLÉ'S Evaporated Milk means to you
For babies—this new milk, made to order for infants, will be approved by your doctor for your baby.
In your coffee and in your cooking—every time you use this new NESTLÉ'S Milk, you help everyone in your family fill his daily requirement of Vitamin D.

Jet-Propelled German Soldier Brought Down

By KENNETH L. DIXON

On The Belgian Front, January 8. (Delayed) —(AP)— Countless comic strip artists will holler "we told you so" upon being told that the first jet-propelled German soldier finally has flashed across this front.

Unfortunately—from the strictly scientific viewpoint—he came to a sizzling and unsuccessful end, amid a shower of slugs, sparks and rainbow-colored rocket bursts.

No Secret Weapon

Also, it must be reported, he was purely a product of accident, rather than a secret Hitler weapon.

"We called him V-5," said Pfc. James McNamara, Clinton, Mass., sadly. "We thought we really had something."

James was one of two paratroopers who brought this futuristic fighting man down to earth. The other was Pfc. Elmer Pankow of Willow Springs, Ill.

They were chopping wood along this Belgian front the other day when things began to happen.

James and Elmer are members of the Eighty-second airborne division and their Five Hundred and Fourth regiment has been a next-door neighbor of the Germans off and on for nearly two months now.

Elmer's Neck Red

As a matter of fact, Elmer was ruminating about this being his Two Hundred and Fifth day of combat, when he felt a familiar burning sensation in the back of his neck. Two hundred and eighty-five days of combat will make anybody's neck allergic to rude stares from strangers.

Carefully he raised his head and saw three men sitting on a little rise of ground several hundred yards away.

"GI's," he muttered, and returned to woodchopping.

James also saw the strangers, and he, too, returned to work. But just as he lifted his axe, something clicked in his mind.

"GI's hell!" he snorted, dropping the axe and reaching for his rifle. "Those guys are Jerries."

Simultaneously, the three watching members of the Waffen SS realized that these woodchoppers were not Wehrmacht men. They leaped to their feet and headed for tall timber. Hot behind them were James and Elmer, shooting on the run.

Third Takes Off

The first Jerry crumpled in midstride. The second collapsed. But number three kept running. Carefully the two Americans aimed and fired again.

There was a burst of fire, sparks and smoke. The fleeing figure uncorked a super-spurt of speed.

Leaping and careening crazily he bounced in great, impossible leaps across the countryside, trailing a long wake of multicolored flame and smoke and spewing rockets in a dozen directions.

"I thought he'd turned into a jet-propelled plane," said Elmer later.

"He looked like a V-5 to me," insisted McNamara.

They fired again, and the rocket-propelled SS trooper made one final frantic flight, collapsing in flames at the bottom of a small draw.

Cautiously the two paratroopers advanced. They found only the body of a very ordinary Waffen SS soldier. Around his waist was strapped a bundle equall ordinary —signal flares such as often are used along the front.

One of the bullets had fired a flare, and one explosion had touched off another.

Turtle Expresses Anger Via Airline

BOGOTA (AP) — The maddest air passenger on record arrived here recently—a 290-lb. live sea turtle consigned to a Bogota restaurant. Sent as air express on the Avianca airline from Cartagene to provide turtle soup for gourmets here, he was shipped sewed up in a burlap sack with only his angry head out.

In Tibet, only the well-to-do use yak butter; the poor eat goat butter.

Winter Punch Bowl Magic

WASSAIL BOWL . . . good for a toast any time of the year.

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

There is no reason why you have to confine the wassail bowl to the holidays. It is good any time of the year when you want to wish good health to your friends.

One fine thing about the wassail bowl is it requires no special equipment. Any good bowl in your house can hold the drink. Tea cups from the china closet are perfect for serving it.

The drink you serve in your wassail bowl may be hot or cold. It may contain wine, or it may be based largely on fruit juice. Here are some good samples which are especially good in the winter.

Florida Wassail Bowl

1 cup sugar	3 cups grapefruit juice
½ cup water	1 quart sweet cider
12 whole cloves	Grapefruit slices
2 sticks cinnamon	Orange slices
1 quart orange juice	Additional whole cloves

Combine sugar, water and spices in a saucepan; simmer ten minutes; strain. Combine with fruit juices and cider. Reheat and serve hot from a large bowl. On top float slices of grapefruit and oranges stuck with whole cloves. If desired one-half cup honey may be substituted for one-half cup sugar. Serves twelve.

Miami Tea Punch

1 cup boiling water	4 cups water
4 teaspoons tea	½ cup lime juice
¾ cup sugar	2½ cups orange juice

Pour one cup of boiling water over tea; steep five minutes; strain. Dissolve sugar in hot tea. For hot punch add the four cups of water, boiling hot, and the fruit juices slightly heated. Serve in cups with thin slices of lime floating in them. For cold lunch, add iced, instead of boiling, water, and chilled juices. Make 8 servings.

Mint-Citrus Ade

½ cup sugar syrup	½ cup grapefruit juice, canned or fresh
6 stalks fresh mint	½ cup water
2 tablespoons lime juice	2 cups ginger ale

Remove tips from the mint. Crush the stalks in the hot sugar syrup (made by stirring one-half cup sugar and one-half cup water in a saucepan over direct heat until sugar is dissolved). Let tips stand one-half hour; strain. Add lime juice, grapefruit juice and water. Chill, and just before serving add ginger ale. Garnish with additional mint.

Mulled wine is a delicious, hospitable and warming drink, easy to prepare and beautiful to look at in the bowl. Any wine may be used, but in my opinion a red one is best.

Mulled Wine

1 bottle Claret or Burgundy	2 cups water
½ cup sugar	4 sticks cinnamon
1 lemon, sliced thin	6 whole cloves

Boil the water, sugar, cinnamon and cloves until the steam smells spicy. Add the lemon slices and let stand, covered, ten minutes. Add wine and heat over low flame. Do not let boil. Serve hot.

If a few friends drop in unexpectedly on a holiday afternoon, here's a good drink to serve them.

Sherry Flip
(For Six People)

6 eggs	6 scant wineglasses sherry
6 teaspoons sugar

Place ingredients in shaker with cracked ice and shake vigorously. Strain into glasses and sprinkle a little nutweg on top of each. Serve at once.

With any of these drinks, thin sandwiches with simple fillings are a good accompaniment. If your taste is on the sweet side you will perhaps prefer fruit cake or thin cookies. Either goes well with drinks which contain sugar, as all of these do.

British Troops Gain Ground in Central Burma

By JOHN GROVER

CALCUTTA, Jan. 11 (AP)—British troops have captured and pushed through the large Japanese base of Shwebo in Central Burma and are driving on down the railway toward Mandalay, fabled city on the Irrawaddy river now less than forty-six miles away, an Allied communique announced today.

Shwebo, last important enemy resistance center north of Mandalay, was entered four days ago by Allied troops, who later overran its air field. Today's announcement said the city "is completely in our hands and our troops have advanced south of the town."

British Storm Budalin

Other British forces were reported storming Budalin, sixty miles northwest of Mandalay on a branch railway between Monywa and Ye-U.

The Japanese garrison was resisting from bunkers concealed in thick undergrowth. Indian troops near the west coast of Burma occupied Ponnagyun, steamer station fourteen miles northeast of the island port of Akyab, which was seized last week without a fight.

(A Chinese communique issued in Chungking said troops of the Chinese First army, who last week captured Loiwing near the China-Burma border, had advanced another four miles and seized a large airfield which Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's Flying Tigers used a few years ago.

(Other units of the same army, which virtually has cleared Japanese forces from the old Burma Road, were reported to have reached the Shweili river in several places just west of Nankham in Northeastern Burma.)

Many Planes in Action

Fliers in this theater really cover country. American and RAF Liberators regularly fly 2,500-mile roundtrips, and an RAF squadron recently made a 3,000-mile mission. They fly, too, in some of the world's worst weather.

At present the heavies are concentrating on a rail line between Bangkok in Thailand and Moulmein in Burma, a vital Japanese supply line.

Allied ground forces in Burma are utterly dependent on air-dropped supplies in the forward areas, and air transport on troops and equipment is routine. No other war theatre has such complete and necessary integration of ground and air operations.

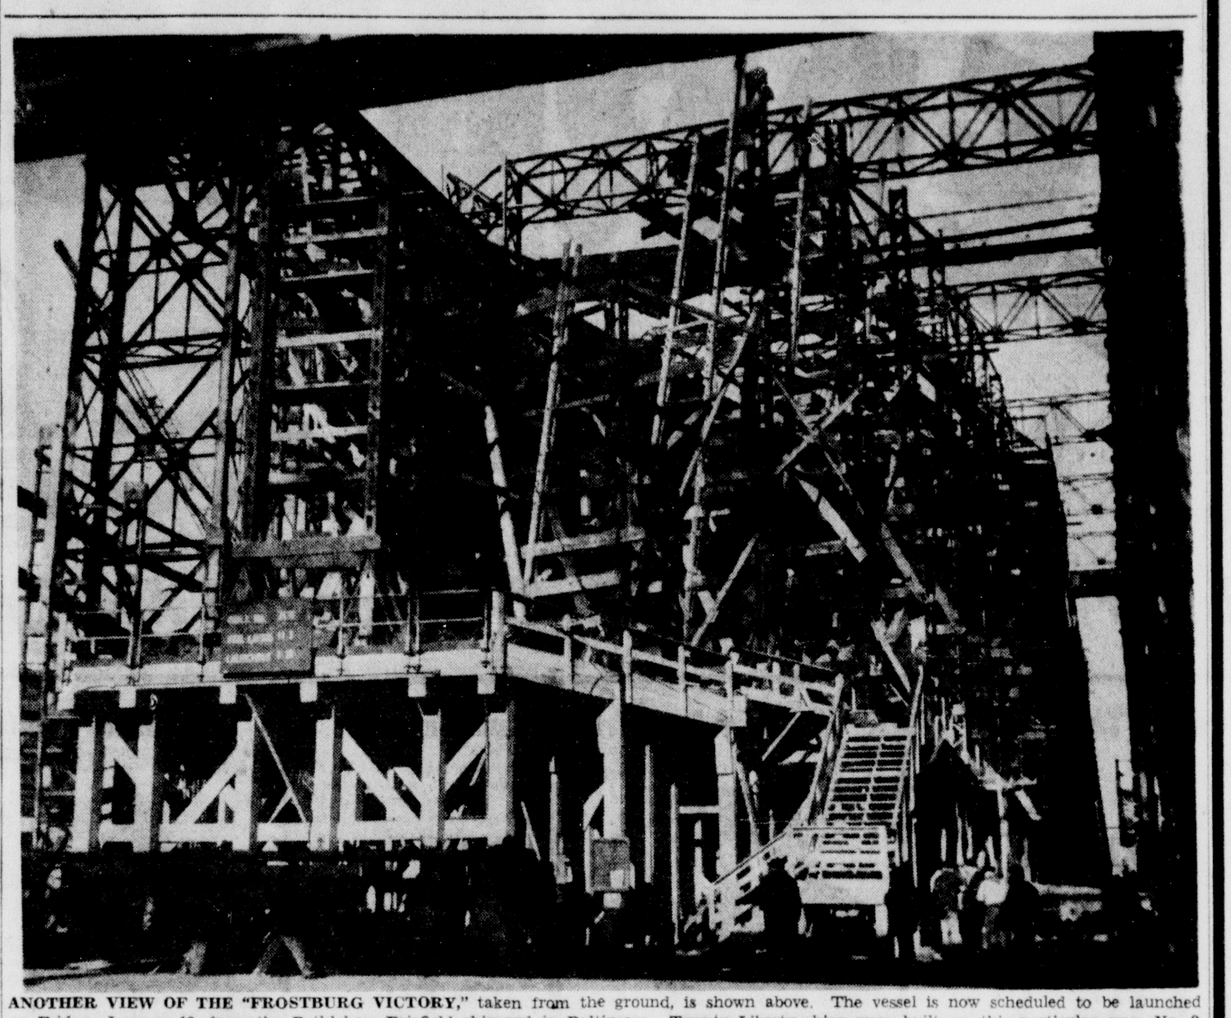

In addition to provisioning Allied ground troops, the strategic air force has denied the Japs provisions by wrecking their supply lines and keeping them wrecked. The enemy has been starved into retreat. Even fanatic Japanese persistence finally wilted in the face of daily destruction of their bridges, railyards, roads and river craft.

Outfits such as the United States Seventh and Twelfth bomber groups and RAF light, medium and heavy craft have made the Burma air strictly an Allied zone.

The leaf butterfly is so like a leaf when its wings are folded that it is impossible to distinguish it at first glance.

WILL BE READY FOR LAUNCHING ON JANUARY 19

ANOTHER VIEW OF THE "FROSTBURG VICTORY," taken from the ground, is shown above. The vessel is now scheduled to be launched on Friday, January 19, from the Bethlehem-Fairfield shipyard in Baltimore. Twenty Liberty ships were built on this particular way, No. 2, in addition to a number of tank landing ships. The "Frostburg Victory," named after Frostburg, Md., is being build on a way adjacent to the one on which the "Hagerstown Victory," is now being constructed. The "Frostburg" will be the second Victory ship named after a Maryland town. The "Frederick Victory" was the first.

Sylvester J. Clark Heads Moose Band

Sylvester J. Clark was elected president of the band of Cumberland lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, at a meeting of band members Wednesday evening.

Lt. Clarence O. Mauzy Returns from England

Lt. Clarence O. Mauzy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Saul P. Mauzy, has arrived at his home from overseas service as a pilot of a Flying Fortress since last May. He has been based in England.

Lt. Mauzy holds the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters. He will leave January 23 for Miami Beach, Fla., for two weeks at a rest camp before re-assignment.

Training Courses Will Be Given In Meyersdale

Community Leadership Training School Will Open Monday Night

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., Jan. 11—The Community leadership training school is scheduled to begin Monday evening, January 15, at 7 o'clock, with two sessions each evening, continuing each Monday evening for five consecutive weeks. The hours will be from 7 to 9.

The Rev. J. E. Gindlesperger, is dean of the school.

Among the courses being offered, and each student may take two courses each evening, are the Bible course, which will be taught by Dr. R. M. Dunkelberger, pastor of Zion Lutheran church. The course in psychology and method will be taught by the Rev. Nelson C. Brown, pastor of Amity Reformed church. The course for young people will be in charge of the Rev. DeWitt L. Miller, pastor of the Church of the Brethren.

The children course will be in charge of Mrs. J. E. McCartney, who in the past has been of great help to the teachers of children. The course on administration will be taught by the Rev. S. C. Keiser, pastor of the Methodist church. This course is designed especially for the officers of the Sunday school.

All sessions will be held in the assembly room of the old high school building.

Harris Is Missing

Harry Harris, 35, fireman first-class, is reported missing in action in the Pacific theater of war, according to a telegram from the Navy department received Tuesday by his wife, Mrs. Catherine (Landis) Harris, High street.

Seaman Harris was inducted into the navy last April and was assigned to duty in November. He is the father of two sons, Jackie and Dickie. He is a member of the Main Street Brethren church and had served as assistant superintendent of the Sunday school. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harris, reside in Salisbury.

Pvt. Martin Dies

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, Meyersdale, have been advised that their son, Pvt. Edgar Martin, who was wounded September 1, in France, but who had rejoined his unit, has died of wounds suffered Nov. 12, also in France. The parents had previously been advised by the War department that his condition was not satisfactory.

Pvt. Martin entered the army January 19, 1943, and after training at Fort Blanding, Fla., went overseas in June of that year. In addition to his parents, he leaves three brothers—Cpl. Glen Martin, with the army in Iran, and George, Jr. and Earl Martin, at home.

Former Mineral County Sheriff Gets New Post

F. G. Davis Named Attendance Officer for Mineral Schools

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Jan. 11—Former Sheriff F. G. Davis has been appointed attendance officer for Mineral county schools by the board of education.

Davis served twenty-five years as chief of police for the city of Keyser, filling that office from 1905 to 1929. He also served two terms as sheriff of Mineral county, 1933 to 1937 and 1941 to 1945, retiring from that office January 1.

Prior to the organization of the county unit school system in 1933, each local district had its own attendance officer. Miss Maxine Baker served in New Creek district under the county system until 1937, when she was appointed to serve the entire county, she retired from the office in 1940. Since Miss Baker's retirement Robert Baker, Harry Lyons and O. A. Harmon have served as attendance officers. Harmon resigned January 1, when he assumed the office of jailor for Mineral county.

Orpha S. Akers, Rev. R. G. Henson Wed at Clearville

Bridegroom Is Serving Methodist Church in Grantsville

By MRS. EVA B. BEACHY

GRANTSVILLE, Jan. 11—Shreve's chapel, Clearville, Pa., was the scene of a candlelight wedding at 8:30 p. m., December 26 when Miss Orpha S. Akers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy S. Akers, Clearville, became the bride of the Rev. Robert G. Henson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Henson, Charleston, W. Va.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Willis Hartsock, assisted by the Rev. Henry Shesllerl. A fifteen minute piano recital was given by Miss Eileen Baumeister. Soloists were Miss Florence Snyder, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Sylvester Henson, sister-in-law of the bride-groom.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lace trimmed ivory satin gown with a court train. Her knee-length veil fell from a halo of satin trimmed with seed pearls and she carried a white plastic Bible marked with white ribbon streamers tied with red rose buds covered with purple orchids. Miss Frances Henson and the Rev. Sylvester Henson, the bridegroom's sister and brother were the attendants. The former wore a yellow chiffon gown trimmed with lace and a matching headdress and she carried a bouquet of red rose buds.

The bride's mother wore a wine colored crepe dress and a corsage of gardenias. After a reception, the couple left for a wedding trip to West Virginia.

Mrs. Henson is a graduate of Everett high school and Thompson business college, York, Pa., and until recently was employed by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in York, Pa. Rev. Henson, a Charleston high school graduate, attended Ashbury and Bob Jones colleges, and graduated from Morris Harvey college. At present he is studying at Westminster Thelogical seminary, Westminster, Md. and is serving the Methodist church in Grantsville where he and Mrs. Henson will reside.

With Famous Outfit

Cpl. James Holmes, Frostburg, and Lonaconing, is serving with the Fifth Marine War Dog platoon in the Southwest Pacific combat hemisphere which was recently commended by the W. H. Rupertus, commanding general of the Fleet Marine Force, for their courageous operations during action against enemy Japanese forces on Peleliu island, Palau group.

The Fifth Marine War Dog Platoon commanding officer received a letter of appreciation for services rendered from the Commanding General Rupertus citing officers and men of his platoon who "detected and broke up an attempted enemy ambush," the letter said, "and by their skillful and courageous work, the Fifth Marine War Dog platoon, not only prevented a company of Fifth Marines from suffering serious casualties, but also enabled it to inflict heavy losses on the enemy. Later in the operation on the northern end of the island, the Fifth Marine War Dog platoon, while attached to the First battalion, Fifth Marines, detected another enemy attack, thus aiding the battalion to repell the attack."

"Throughout the operations the work of the Fifth Marine War Dog platoon was of an exemplary manner, and was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval service," stated the Commanding General Rupertus.

Cpl. Holmes is the son of County Commissioner and Mrs. James Holmes, Douglas avenue, who merit a five star service flag with one gold one. Cpl. Pershing is serving with the field artillery on the western front against Germany and T. Sgt. Blair and A-S Robert are stationed in the states after returning from foreign service with the army air force. Lt. Thomas Mac Holmes was killed in action June, 1944, while serving with the Thirty-fourth "Red Bull" division in Italy.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up nights. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Howard Nichols Is Missing in Action

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, Jan. 11—Staff Sgt. Howard Nichols, husband of Mrs. Frances Cheshire Nichols, a former resident of Piedmont, W. Va. has been missing in action in Germany since December 22, according to a message received by his wife from the War department yesterday.

Staff Sgt. Nichols, who was serving with an infantry outfit of the Seventh army when he was reported missing, entered the service in January, 1942, as a member of the West Virginia National Guard. After training at a camp in Indianapolis, Ind., he served in the Aleutians for two years. He later returned to this country, and went overseas to France last October.

His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Cheshire, 110 West Hampshire street, Piedmont.

Pilot Addresses Clubs

Lt. Joseph A. Friday, who piloted a B-25 medium bomber from Miami, Fla., to the China-Burma-India theater, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Westernport and Luke Civic clubs Tuesday evening at the service center.

Lt. Friday gave a narrative account of the trip, illustrated with colored pictures of cities which he visited in South America, Africa, Morocco, Egypt, Arabia, and India. He is a graduate of Bruce high school and of the school of engineering at George Washington university.

The program was preceded by a supper at the service center. The supper was arranged by Mrs. Mae Adams, Mrs. Flo Clower and Mrs. Lucille Krantz. At a business meeting of the clubs, Mrs. Krantz was appointed war bond chairman.

It was reported that thirty-two bags and twenty-three pairs of socks were filled with gifts and forwarded to the Newton D. Baker hospital, Martinsburg, W. Va. Two boxes weighing thirty and fifteen pounds each were sent to the veterans' hospital at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., including books and phonograph records.

The February meeting of the clubs will be held Tuesday, February 13, in the city building.

Mt. Savage Lions Club To Sponsor Boy Scout Troop

By CATHERINE O'ROURKE

MT. SAVAGE, Jan. 11—The Mt. Savage Boy Scout troop, No. 50, will be sponsored by the Mt. Savage Lions Club, under the direction of the Boys and Girls committee of the Lions. The troop was organized and sponsored by the Methodist church, under the jurisdiction of the Rev. Harris M. Waters, and has been open to boys of all denominations.

Troop meetings were formerly held in the recreation hall of the Methodist church, but recently meetings have been held in the Mt. Savage high school auditorium. The troop has been given the old fire hall in Foundry row as a headquarters, and members and leaders have repaired and renovated the building. However, due to lack of heating facilities at the present, it is impossible for the boys to meet there.

The troop, which was organized about four years ago, has contributed a great deal to the community by taking active part in all defense drives and civil projects. A number of present members have passed second class scout tests and a few have completed first class requirements.

For the past several months scrap paper drives have been conducted jointly by the Lions and the Boy Scouts with very successful results. Directors of both organizations admit that the new relation between them will better both groups. The members of the troop committee include Dr. B. O. Coberly, William Best, Robert Pollock, James House, Robert Kirby, Thomas E. Stephens, Wilson Sweene, and Patrick J. Sullivan, chairman. Recently Robert Kirby and P. J. Sullivan have been acting scoutmasters, as previous scoutmasters are serving in the armed forces or have left the community to enter essential war work. The Rev. Waters and Professor J. Orville Kefauver are members of the Mountain District Council of Boy Scouts.

Sullivan announced today that, weather permitting, a scrap paper drive will be held January 26 and 27. Trucks will travel through all sections of town collecting the paper, books and magazines. Each truck will be in charge of a member of the Lions club, assisted by a crew of scouts.

Bowers Rites Held

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Bowers, who died Tuesday morning, were held this afternoon in St. George's Episcopal church. The Rev. Rudolph Gunkel, rector, officiated. Pall bearers were John Graham, Colin Graham, Howard Smith, James Lilly, Robert Pollock and Thomas Shaffer. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Brief Items

Mrs. Richard Hotchkiss entertained yesterday at her home in honor of the seventh birthday of her daughter, Margaret Ann. Games were played and prizes awarded. Fifteen guests were present.

A party for the benefit of the Jennings Run Council, Junior Order of United American Mechanics, will be held Saturday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Junior Order hall.

MARRIAGE OF WOMAN AND PURPORTED NAZI AGENT ANNULLED HERE

The petition of Mrs. Margaret M. Heller, 49, of 16 Baltimore street, for the annulment of her marriage on March 16, 1932, to a self-purported important agent of the German government, Martin Heller, was granted Wednesday in circuit court by Chief Judge William A. Huster.

Mrs. Heller testified that she and her husband never lived together as man and wife, and asserted that a short time after their marriage in New Orleans, Heller was arrested by federal agents and subsequently deported to Germany on a charge of illegal entry into the United States.

Heller, the petitioner said, married her for her money, but "when he saw he could not get any money from me he grew very cool and abusive, called me names and told me I could go to the devil."

Court records showed that Heller is "forever barred from returning to the United States," and Mrs. Heller said she does not know what happened to him, whether he is dead or alive.

Mrs. Heller was born in Cumberland, her name being Margaret Damm, and was the divorced wife of Arnold W. Bel when she went to New Orleans in 1931. She returned to Cumberland in 1932.

Morris Baron was attorney for Mrs. Heller.

Luck Helps Nazis In Escape from Belgian Bulge

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Luck and staff skill born of years of actual combat experience are playing into German hands in the escape from the depths of the Belgian bulge just as much as they did at the start of the drive that sent American forces back nearly fifty miles.

At the moment when the Nazi commander had completed preliminary preparations for his surprise drive in mid-December a close-hanging ground fog developed over the whole zone of his contemplated operations.

It hung there over the Rhine valley, much of East-Central Belgium and Northeastern Luxembourg more than forty-eight hours, blinding Allied air observers. It was under the cover of that fog that the Nazis completed their concentration and launched their counter blow to achieve full tactical if not strategic surprise.

Fickle weather had much to do, also, with the halting of the thrust short of any critical penetration of American lines or the attainment of major military results other than postponement and possible total revision of Allied winter offensive time tables.

A break of some days duration in the cloud layers over and behind the bulge brought the full weight of Allied air power into action to snarl up enemy communications and supply. It also permitted a rapid concentration of Allied troops around the bulge perimeter in readiness to assume the offensive on both flanks.

The third phase of the action is now in progress as evidence of a German retreat from the western nose of the Belgian bulge comes from every informed source including German official broadcasts. Again, weather is a prime factor in German favor.

Blizzards that have piled deep snowy drifts over the whole Belgian battle terrain add to the Nazi difficulties in effecting a swift and orderly escape east ward with minimum losses in men and equipment, but they also hamper even more Allied efforts to spring the trap while any stubstantial German force remains within its clutch.

Women "Too Busy" To Check Ceilings

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — An opinion survey of 1,044 Baltimore women by the information division of the Maryland Office of Price Administration showed today that ninety-one per cent knew what ceiling prices were, but only fifty-one per cent had checked them.

Reasons given for not checking were that women were "too busy", "indifferent", and that they "trust dealers". Eight per cent said they knew they were being overcharged, but felt they could do nothing about it, so paid the overcharge.

Of 915 women interrogated about the prices of clothing and house furnishings, 619 said they "thought" they had been overcharged, 185 "had no complaints," and eleven were "not buying."

After studying the survey, the Baltimore OPA Consumer Advisory committee urged the public to ... full responsibility in checking ceiling prices and paying ration points in full.

Dog Eats Plastic Motor Car Plates

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 11 (AP)—A pup of undetermined ancestry but with a notorious liking for soybean products in the form of 1944 Illinois license plates ran afoul of the law today.

Police Officer Lee Estrop spied the dog gnawing away at a license on a parked car and took the animal into custody. City Street Commissioner Frank Lock estimated it had destroyed twenty to twenty-five plates in three weeks.

Lock said the dog would be held ten days, awaiting an owner. It is friendly and several offers of adoption have been made.

No motorists complained the pup had eaten similarly - constructed 1945 plates, which legally should be on cars after Jan. 1.

A Memphis, Tenn., woman reading of the dog's recent activities, suggested that the state put red pepper in the soy-plastic tags.

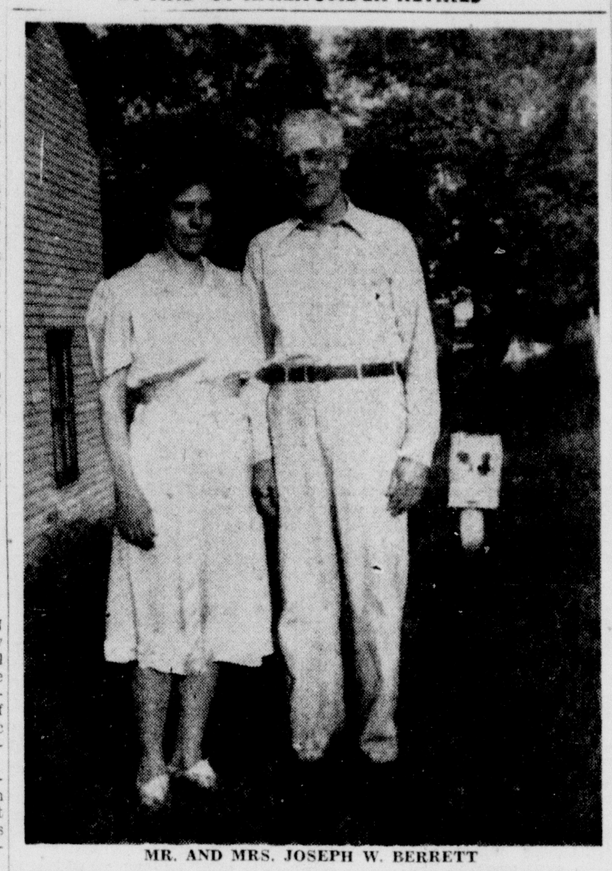

Italian Workers Protest Prices

AT THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER, Jan. 11 (AP) — Hungry workers in the Italian industrial cities of Milan and Turin have again struck in protest against spiralling prices and a shortage of food, according to Swiss telegraphic agency reports reaching here today.

At Milan workers massed at headquarters of the German occupation authorities and complained against nightly convoys of all kinds of goods and machinery being sent from Milan to Germany.

At Turin German troops were reported sent to reinforce Italian garrisons because of the tense situation. Hundreds of new arrests were reported made at Genoa to suppress increasing resistance to the Mussolini puppet regime.

Japanese-American Doughboys Honored

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP) — Award of the Distinguished Service medal to seven Japanese-American doughboys, including one who attacked a German position armed only with a shovel, was announced today by the War department.

All were members of the famed special One Hundredth infantry battalion, which fought in Italy and now is in action in France. Other soldiers in the unit, composed solely of Americans of Japanese descent from Hawaii, have won many Silver Stars, Bronze Star medals and Purple Hearts.

One of the seven, Private First Class Kiichi Koda of Waipahu, Oahu, lost his life in winning his DSC. He was killed by a hand grenade last July 9 near Castellina in Italy while leading his squad against a German machine gun nest.

Private Jesse M. Hirato of Honaunau, won his medal for charging an enemy sniper position with a shovel he had picked up after his rifle jammed. He captured the position and three German soldiers armed with a machine pistol, two rifles and grenade.

Hagerstown Man Is Held For Federal Grand Jury

Charged with operating a still at a clubhouse near Hagerstown, Robert Burger, East Franklin street, Hagerstown, waived a hearing before United States Commissioner C. Welles Little in Hagerstown last Monday and is held under $500 bond for action of the federal grand jury in Baltimore, according to Howard P. Loughrie, deputy United States marshal.

Loughrie arrested Burger in Hagerstown January 2 after Charles E. Cushwa, agent of the federal alcoholic tax unit, investigated the case. Burger, who is married and the father of three children, is employed at a shoe factory in Hagerstown, Loughrie said.

LaSalle Rates Edge over Fort Hill In 1945 Intra-City Opener Tonight

Unbeaten Explorers Launch Title Defense; Allegany Meets Barton in WMIL Clash

Another intra-city scholastic basketball championship series will be launched tonight when the LaSalle High Explorers meet an underdog Fort Hill High Sentinel quint at 8 o'clock on the latter's court.

The Explorers' four-game victory string shouldn't be in too much danger as the Sentinels suffered a hard blow this week when Ted Durbin, their high-scoring forward, was accepted for the navy. Durbin, also an aggressive defensive player, wasn't around earlier this week when Fort Hill suffered defeats at the hands of the Martinsburg, (W. Va.) High Bulldogs and the Central High Tigers, of Lonaconing.

Coach Art Slocum's Explorers will be opeping their defense of city honors. The Blue and Gold looked plenty tough in rolling over Bruce high at Westernport earlier this week to sweep the home-and-home series.

Explorers Average 52 Points

In their four games to date, the Explorers have averaged fifty-two points to twenty for opposing clubs. Slocum's outfit turned back Central 43-26, Bruce 47-14 and 50-17 and Paw Paw 68-23 with Tommy Geatz, Ray Shaffer and Jack Steiner doing most of the scoring.

Central, badly mauled by LaSalle, pinned a 50-32 setback on Fort Hill Wednesday night when the Western Maryland Interscholastic League, chase was opened at Lonaconing. It was the Sentinels' fourth loss in seven starts.

Fort Hill registered triumphs over Piedmont 30-21, Romney 52-30 and Davis 47-28 and lost to Piedmont 19-16, Alumni 36-34, Martinsburg 28-22 and Central. The Sentinels are averaging thirty-three points per game to the opposition's thirty.

With Durbin in navy uniform, little "Buddy" Giles has become Fort Hill's No. 1 scoring threat. He accounted for thirteen points against Central and made twelve in the Martinsburg tussle.

LaSalle Has Series Edge

Tonight's tilt will be the thirty-eighth in the series between LaSalle teams and combinations representing Penn Avenue and Fort Hill with the Explorers holding a twenty to seventeen edge. The Blue and Gold has won the last seven meetings and in the second clash last season walloped the Sentinels 61-17 in the most one-sided scrap in the series.

No seats will be reserved for tonight's game. "Eck" Miers and Cliff Fearer will officiate. In the 7 o'clock preliminary, reserve teams of the two schools will meet with "Spike" Herboldsheimer as referee.

While the intra-city tilt holds tonight's spotlight, there will be quite a bit of interest in the Allegany-Barton clash at Barton where Coach "Bill" Bowers's Campers will be opening their WMIL title defense. The West Siders have won two of four contests while Barton has divided in two. Dick Stewart will referee.

Another WMIL inaugural will be staged at Frostburg between the Beall High Mountaineers and Bruce, of Westernport, with Mel Henry officiating. Beall opened its campaign this week by losing to Piedmont and defeating Fort Ashby while Bruce has played eight games, winning three.

Keyser Plays Moorefield

Keyser will invade Moorefield for a Potomac Valley Conference encounter, Romney will be host to the Handley Judges, of Winchester, Va., Beverly and the Parsons High Panthers will meet at Parsons, Thomas will entertain its Tucker county rival, Davis, Berkeley Springs will travel to Hancock, Bedford will be at home to Hooversville, the Petersburg Vikings will oppose Elk Garden on the latter's floor, and Ridgeley will tangle with Paw Paw at Paw Paw.

The Ridgeley Blackhawks suffered their first loss in four games Tuesday evening at the hands of Allegany while Paw Paw has won one of four. Romney's record is two wins and three losses, Parsons has bowed in all three of its tests, Davis has copped one of three, Thomas is unbeaten with three triumphs and Petersburg has split even in four engagements.

Tomorrow night, Allegany will battle the Bedford (Pa.) High Bisons at Campobello. It will be the only game in the district.

Diamond Moguls Prefer Baseball Man To Run Game

Ford Frick Leads List of Possibilities for Landis Job

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (AP)—Straws in the wind today indicated a baseball man would be chosen to succeed the late Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis, possibly at the February joint meeting of the major leagues in New York.

An Associated Press poll of club owners and general managers, who must make the decision, revealed a decided trend toward a man versed in the rules and problems of the game rather than a nationally-known figure not identified with the sport.

With the exception of President Ed Barrow, of the New York Yankees, who said he would support any one of four men, none of the moguls offered candidates.

Barrow said he would vote for President Ford Frick, of the National League, President Will Harridge, of the American League, General Manager Warren Giles, of Cincinnati, or Louis McAvoy, director of broadcasting in the American loop. He insisted on a man from within the game.

Frick, who has gained surprising unsolicited support from the rival circuit, leads the list of possibilities.

Although the original impression was that neither league would vote for a man from the other, that barrier appears to be crumbling if not already eliminated.

Harridge has said he definitely is not interested and Giles, when queried about his preference, replied in part: "I do not think a man's identification with baseball either qualifies or disqualifies him for the position of commissioner, but I doubt the wisdom of selecting someone with baseball identifications if some equally qualified man without such identification is available."

A ten-man committee appointed to draw up a new mapor league agreement, which outlines the powers, term and salary of the office of commissioner, held a sketchy three-hour session in Chicago last week and will finish a rough draft in New York Feb. 2.

Joint action by the two majors on the new pact will follow, and there is a strong possibility the sixteen owners will get down to a vote on a commissioner at the same session.

Carver Hoopmen Play Martinsburg Tonight

Carver high's basketball team will open its 1945 basketball season tonight by meeting Martinsburg (W. Va.) high on the Carver court. The squad includes Forwards J. Williams and R. Edwards, Center B. Paugh and Guards C. Waites and E. Redmon. J. Redmon and R. Bush are substitutes. In the preliminary, the Carver girls will tangle with the Martinsburg sextet.

The Carver schedule also has Leesburg here January 19, Storer away January 26, Frederick away February 9, Storer here February 16, Hagerstown away February 23, Leesburg away March 2, Frederick home March 9, Martinsburg away March 13 and Hagerstown here March 16.

Col. Eagan Is Named To Athletic Commission

NEW YORK, Jan. 11. (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today named Col. Edward F. Eagen, 1920 Olympic light-heavyweight champion and New York lawyer, to the New York State Athletic Commission and then for nearly an hour parried questions shot at him by nearly forty metropolitan sports writers.

Eagan, 46-year old native of Denver, Col., and No. 2 man on the four-man bobsled which the late Billy Fiske piloted to United States victory in the 1932 Olympic games, succeeds Chairman John J. Phelan, whose term expired Jan. 1.

Henry and Walker Meet Again Monday

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11 (AP) — Yancey Henry, California negro heavyweight, will be looking for revenge Monday night at the Coliseum when he once more goes up against rangy Buddy Walker, Columbus, O., negro, in a ten-round rematch.

Henry lost his first start in Baltimore to Walker, although he dropped Buddy for a nine count in the tenth round. Then Henry defeated Gunner Barlund in Baltimore but lost in his next bout to Lee Q. Murray.

Walker at present is working out in New York with Lee Oma and Barlund.

Scotty Riffle Is Killed in Action

Morgantown Boxer Appeared in Shows at Luke and Cumberland

Tri-state boxing fans have learned with regret that Scotty Riffle, 28, of Morgantown, W. Va., and former West Virginia amateur and professional heavyweight champion, was killed in action with the First army in Belgium, December 23.

Riffle made his first appearance in this section in about 1935, meeting and defeating Tracy Riggins in a Devon A. C. show at Luke. He appeared in several bouts in Cumberland rings both as an amateur and professional. Among his opponents here was Charley Brant, the well known young heavyweight slugger. Scotty always gave a good account of himself in the ring and was quite popular in this section. As an amateur he fought with a team of boxers managed by John Zan, of Morgantown.

He defeated Buddy McArthur for the West Virginia state heavyweight title in 1938 at Fairmont and engaged in several more professional fights before retiring. At the time he captured the state championship he weighed 175 pounds.

Scotty started his boxing career as a lightweight and won three Diamond Belt tournaments in Pittsburgh. Following his retirement from the ring he was employed as foreman in the Arkwright Coal Company mines at Morgantown. He went overseas in October, 1944.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Mabel Fox Riffle and one child, he is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Riffle, of Westover, W. Va. His father is justice of the peace at Westover.

GAME TONIGHT
Keyser at Moorefield

The Keyser High Golden Tornado, which launched its Potomac Valley Conference season this week with a 38-27 victory over Fort Ashby, will invade Moorefield tonight to meet Coach Johnny Paugh's Moorefield High Yellow Jackets in an important conference tussle.

Keyser, Moorefield and Franklin appear to be the strongest clubs in the race. Moorefield won four PVC engagements before losing 30-24 to Franklin in the latter's loop inaugural last week.

The Golden Tornado will be striving for its fourth victory in five starts. Fred "Tack" Clark's rangy outfit turned back a servicemen's club 36-24, Allegany 39-27 and Fort Ashby and lost to Alumni 34-30.

Moorefield bested Mathias 55-15, Petersburg 46-24, Piedmont 22-21 and Circleville 36-25 and bowed to Franklin in conference engagements. The Jackets have played but one game outside the circuit, trimming Alumni 36-24.

College Football Coaches Propose Five Rule Changes

Prohibition of Out-of-Bounds Kickoff Recommended by Mentors

By HAROLD HARRISON

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 11 (AP)—The rules committee of the National College Football Coaches Association voted today to recommend five major changes in the collegiate gridiron code.

Of prime importance were proposals to prohibit the out-of-bounds kickoff and to permit forward passing anywhere behind the line of scrimmage.

The coaches' suggestions will be presented to the rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association when it meets several weeks hence.

Eastern colleges operated during the past season under the proposed forward passing and kickoff rules. The Western Conference had an agreement among its coaches not to kick off out of bounds.

Under the proposed rule a kickoff going out of bounds would be kicked off again with the kicking team being penalized five yards.

Under present rules forward passes may not be thrown closer than five yards behind the line of scrimmage.

The other changes which the coaches voted at an all-day session to recommend were:

1. To make use of a one-inch tee, to be provided by the officials, mandatory for kickoffs.

2. That where the forearm is used in blocking, the hand must be held against the body, and striking in the face with the elbow should be prohibited.

3. To lessen the severity of the penalty for an attempted lateral pass which is thrown forward. Under the suggested rule there would be a five-yard penalty and a down from the point where the attempter lateral was thrown. Present rules call it an uncompleted forward pass and the ball is returned to the line of scrimmage. When a team which did not put the ball in play originally makes such a miscue it would be penalized five yards from where the attempted lateral was thrown instead of fifteen yards as at present.

Among the suggestions voted down were proposals to allow running with a recovered fumble and various suggestions designed to curb stalling near the ends of halves.

Baseball Figures Return from Tour

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Managers Frankie Frisch and Mel Ott, of the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants, respectively, and Pitchers Dutch Leonard, of Washington, and Bucky Walters, of Cincinnati, returned to New York today from a six-week USO tour of European battle fronts.

They were accompanied on their trip by J. Roy Stockton, of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

"We did everything but shake hands with the soldiers in their front line fox holes," said Walters.

Usually the troupe put on its show between the artillery and infantry sectors of the front, the pitcher explained, with artillery shells zooming over their heads.

They returned by trans-Atlantic plane.

Charlie Justice Leaves Bainbridge

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Jan. 11. (AP)—"Choo-Choo" Charlie Justice, the Asheville, N. C., back who jumped from a high school team to a berth on the second national service All-America eleven in two years, became an ex-Bainbridge Commodore today.

Justice, whose thirteen touchdowns this fall paced the crack Bainbridge eleven to its second undefeated season and to seventeen victories in two years without a defeat, was detached today. No word was forthcoming as to his destination.

An 18-year-old school boy last year, Justice stole the limelight from such stars as Bill de Correvont, Don Durdan and Bill Dutton, scoring a total of forty-six points and winning a place on the Mid-Atlantic All-Service eleven.

In 1944, Justice was used as a spot runner and ran wild through Bainbridge opponents for a total of eighty-four points. He was selected Mid-Atlantic All-Service halfback for the second successive year and voted halfback on the national All-Service eleven.

Justice is a specialist (athletic) second class. He was attached to the recruit training division at Bainbridge, where he was engaged in training recruits.

Republicans, K. of C. Divide at Frostburg

FROSTBURG, Jan. 11.—Republican club and K. of C. tossers divided a Frostburg Recreation Association League twin-bill here this week with the Republican seniors winning 48-12 and the Casey juniors scoring a 14-8 triumph.

Blair and Powers paced the Republicans in the senior tussle with sixteen and eighteen points, respectively. Whitefield had eight points for K. of C. In the junior contest, Spearman had eight points for the Caseys and Davis four for the Republicans. The lineups:

Giants Will Again Train at Lakewood

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The New York Giants will return to Lakewood, N. J., for spring training headquarters, reporting Sunday, March 11, Secretary Edward T. Brannick said today.

Earlier negotiations with Baltimore authorities were terminated when difficulty arose over a playing field.

Junior Nut Loop Race Opens at "Y"

Opening games in the Central Y. M. C. A. Junior Nut League were played this week with the Coconuts defeating the Butternuts 4-2, the Hickory Nuts turning back the Walnuts 6-1 and the Peanuts whipping the Doughnuts 12-3. Fifty boys participated in the lid-lifters.

In the high school circuit, the Coconuts turned back the Hazelnuts 42-24 and the Peanuts won over the Just Nuts 44-21. The Coconuts led 13-11, 15-14 and 29-19 at the quarters while the Peanuts and Just Nuts were tied 5-5 at the quarter with the winners on top 14-9 at the half and 29-15 at the end of the third stanza. M. Cox had twenty points for the Coconuts, Latimer eight for the Hazelnuts, Stotler fifteen for the Peanuts and O'Neal six for the Just Nuts. The high school loop scores:

Southeastern Tourney Receives Green Light

LEXINGTON, Ky., Jan. 11. (AP)—W. D. Funkhouser, secretary of the Southeastern Conference, announced today receipt of a telegram from the Office of War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes which apparently gives a green light to plans for the conference's annual basketball tournament, set for Lousville on March 1-3.

In response to a telegram inquiring if Byrnes's request for cessation of group meetings applied to the cage meet, Funkhouser said he was advised that "there were no specific reference in the request to sports events such as basketball tournaments."

Byrnes May Be Forced To Order Sports Shutdown

War Mobilizer May Be Asked for Definite Overall Decision

By BUS HAM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 (AP)—There were indications today that War Mobilizer Jimmy Byrnes will soon be asked to make a definite overall decision on what to do with wartime sports.

Some sources predicted Byrnes will find that the most practicable solution is to order as tight a general shutdown as that in effect at race tracks.

The request for Byrnes to act is expected to come from a presidential committee and from the Office of Defense Transportation now studying the ban on conventions and trade shows attended by fifty or more persons.

So many complex problems in regard to sports events have been brought before the committee, headed by J. Monroe Johnson, ODT director, that the most satisfactory course may be to check the entire situation back to Byrnes.

"If it reaches a point where complications can't be readily straightened out, we'll go to the White House for a decision on sports events," an ODT sourse said.

Many inquiries received by ODT

Civil War Veteran Dies at Harman

BL HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., Jan. 11— William Perry VanDevender, 101, a Civil War veteran and a resident of Harman, W. Va., for seventy-five years, died yesterday afternoon in Harman at the home of his son, Frank VanDevender. He had been a partial invalid for the past two years.

Mr. VanDervender, a retired farmer, was born October 1, 1843, in Pendleton county. He was a son of Jacob and Eve Nelson VanDevender. His mother died in 1923 at the age of 100.

Mr. VanDevender's wife, the late Mrs. Phoebia Raines, VanDevender, died in 1932 at the age of 80. A member of the Church of the Brethren at Harman for fifty years, Mr. VanDevender is survived by six children, forty-two grandchildren, eighty-one great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchilrden.

Two sons and four daughters survive. They are Frank VanDevender, Harman, with whom Mr. VanDevender lived for the past sixteen years, Walter VanDevender, Weippe, Idaho; Mrs. Dorothy Bonner, also of Weippe; Mrs. Carrie Summerfield, Huntington, W. Va.; Mrs. Annie Harper, Dry Fork, W. Va., and Mrs. Dollie Smith, Harman. A brother, Lee VanDevender, Oceola, W. Va., also survives.

Funeral services will be held at the Church of the Brethren in Harmon Sunday at 1 p. m.

To Limber Up Stiff Aching Sore Muscles!
Try Hot Towels To Open Pores Then Rub On Emerald Oil. You Get Fast Blessed Relief

Tonight on your way home get a bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil from the drug store. Before bedtime apply a good hot towel just as hot as you can bear it and keep it on and hot for about 5 minutes to open the pores. Dry thoroughly then apply a little of the oil and rub briskly with a good massage 'til it disappears. Cover up and go to sleep. In the morning for good measure another oil application — no hot towel. You'll get the surprise of your life. You'll be amazed at the blessed relief you get—back on the job happy and much more comfortable. Keep it up for a few days.

Thousands of bottles are sold annually for tired aching feet and legs. You can get Moone's Emerald Oil at any good drug store.

Radio Network Shifts Programs To New Spots

Boris Karloff Will Be a Guest of Duffy's Tavern

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—Now it's the Blue continuing the network program alterations. It has announced at least a couple for Friday night.

Famous Jury Trials, recently moved from Tuesday nights to 8:30, now is stepping into the former Gang Buster spot at 9, while Norman Cordon Sings, previously listed for Thursday nights, even this week, has been shifted at the last minute to 10 on Fridays.

Also this will be Ed Wynn's last Friday broadcast at 7 before moving to Mondays, beginning next week. This will make his broadcasts for the weekend only a few days apart.

Karloff a Guest

Duffy's Tavern is looking forward to a scare, for isn't Boris Karloff listed as the guest on NBC at 8:30? . . . More guesting, or so it is announced, will be supplied by Victor Moore and William Gaxton when they show up for Stage Door Canteen on CBS at 10:30.

Freedom of Opportunity on MBS at 8:30 has its first birthday program by dramatizing the life of Dr. Earl R. Carlson, physician and orthopedic surgeon.

Fighting on MBS at 10 is scheduled in the featherweight class between Phil Terranova and Charlie Lewis.

Announced for the Blue at 4:30 is a panel discussion about "Veterans' Education." It is to come from the convention of the American Association of Colleges assembled in Philadelphia.

A drama, "One Foot in Heaven," is announced for the Blue at 8:30 unless there is a change in plans meanwhile.

Some Early Offerings

NBC—10:30 a. m. Finders Keepers quiz; 12:30 p. m. United States Marine Band; 2:45 p. m. Betty Crocker's talk.

Barbs of Humor Are Now a Marine Weapon

SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC (AP)—Marine humor has become an important war weapon, one officer insist. Men climbing a high cliff under fire reached the top smiling because of a sign, "Please use the escalator. Elevator out of order." Jungle fighters quipped, "Going to be tough sledding. No snow." Face down in the sand during a tense moment on one hotly-held beach, one marine called out, "Does anyone have an old cold beer they don't want?"

Profit Cashing Pushes Stocks Lower in Another Active Market

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (AP)—The long driving stock market ran into more insistent profit cashing today and, while steels and specialties continued to mount, rails, motors and many recent industrial climbers backed into losing territory.

The good war news again served to chill carriers and other armament-rated groups on the idea the world conflict might be shortened.

Accounts were lightened because of the feeling a sizable technical correction was overdue. Inflation thinning and individual situations persisted as bullish factors. Steels had the benefit of the O.P.A. boost in ceiling prices for several products in this field.

Volume topped the two-billion mark for the third successive session. Turover of 2,212,920 shares compared with 2,109,695 the day before.

International telephone, up a point, was the fastest sprinter Ahead were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Republican Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Johns-Manville, Emerson Electric, Farnsworth Television (the electronics again were spurred by postwar prospects, American Can, Westinghouse and Dow Chemical.

On the offside were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck Aircraft, Allied Chemical, Du Pont and American Smelting.

Sales here were 581,335 shares versus 551,630 yesterday.

The bond market rode out prolonged waves of profit taking today and emerged with rails at a new seven-year high and other groups holding fully steady positions.

Sales totaled $23,308,400, compared with $21,186,400 on Wednesday.

United States governments were about steady.

as to whether basketball tournaments, track meets and such come under the ban on conventions, involve complex situations.

Byrnes has said that he contemplates no ban on sports . . . and ODT feels that sports in the main have been highly co-operative . . . but some observers see developments the past few weeks leaving Byrnes no choice but to order a general shutdown, if the whose sports problem is tossed back into his lap.

Since Byrnes fired a broadside at professional athletes for not being in the war effort and followed up by shutting down the race tracks, sports have been crowded tighter into a corner by the president's message urging work-or-fight legislation, increased manpower needs both in war production and on the fighting fronts, the ban on conventions, the reduction of lighting and heating to conserve coal.

James E. Kelley Appointed Water Safety Chairman

Celanese Police Officer Named by Red Cross Chapter

Appointment of James E. Kelley, Jr., 33, of 502 Baltimore avenue, as water safety chairman of Allegany County Chapter of the American Red Cross, was announced yesterday by Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, chapter chairman.

A member of the police department of the Celanese Corporation of America, Kelley has served as a qualified Red Cross swimming instructor here since 1932.

In his new position Kelley will have nine Red Cross swimming instructors under his supervision, namely, William J. Armbruster, RFD 3; Guiles Flowers, Jr., LaVale; William E. Kight, 311 Decatur street; Marjorie Vernell Kight, 309 Decatur street; Walter C. Patzig, 844 Greene street; Arnold Joseph Rosenthal, 67 Greene street; Miss Ann B. Smith, Ellerslie; Florence M. Snelson, 1350 Shade's lane, and Chief Petty Officer Walter B. Warmee, of the Central YMCA.

Organized Boys' Club

A former amateur boxer of note, Kelley was instrumental in organizing recreational classes for the Cumberland Police Boys' Club when he was a member of the Cumberland Police Department in 1939. Assisting him in conducting the classes at the inception of the program were James Condon and Robert Chisholm. Kelley served as director of the classes until early in 1944. He joined the Celanese Police Department three years ago and is an outstanding member of the department's pistol team, holding the rating of expert.

Kelley directs "Learn to Swim" classes at the Central YMCA on Saturdays when an average of fifty boys participate in pool activities. He also has charge of boys' swimming classes at the "Y" on the monthly guest days.

Plans New Classes

The new water safety chairman announced last evening that new classes will be organized the latter part of this month and arrangements are being made to present the showing of several educational pictures dealing with the Red Cross water safety program.

H. Lee Silcox is general chairman of the Red Cross first aid committee, of which water safety is an integral part.

NOW IN TRAINING—Pvt. June Williams, daughter of Mrs. Ethel Fletcher, 1404 Virginia avenue, is taking her basic training in the WAC at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. A former student at Greene street junior high school, Pvt. Williams was employed at the Erco Company plant, Riverdale, prior to being called to active duty last December 6. She will become a medical technician in the WAC after completing her training. A brother, James L. Williams, is serving in the South Pacific area with the marine corps.

News Telephone Fund for Vets Totals $1,146.49

"A" Shift Spinners Donate $141.50; "C" Shift Winders Give $32

Swelled by a donation of $141.50 yesterday from the "A" Shift, Spinning department, at the Celanese plant here, the NEWS TELEPHONE FUND for wounded veterans at Newton D. Baker General hospital, at Martinsburg, W. Va., reached a total of $1,146.49.

Workers in the Spinning department at the Celanese have shown more interest in the fund than any other group of workers and total contributions from the department total $238.50.

The News was informed yesterday that there are about 640 workers from the Spinning department now serving in the armed forces and that six former workers in the department have made the supreme sacrifice in World War Two.

Another group at the Celanese came through in grand style yesterday. "C" shift of the winding department sent $32 to the NEWS for the fund.

The NEWS deeply appreciates the interest of the Celanese workers in helping to provide free telephone calls throughout the year for the veterans in Baker hospital. The paper invites workers in other departments at the Celanese as well as workers in industrial plants, and other businesses in Cumberland and the Tri-State area to participate in what the NEWS thinks is one of the finest things residents of this section can do for the wounded veterans at Martinsburg.

The campaign will close on January 31, and those who want to contribute should do so as soon as possible. Mail contributions to TELEPHONE FUND EDITOR, Box 567, Cumberland, Md., or bring your donations to the TIMES-NEWS OFFICE, 7 South Mechanic street. Please make all checks payable to NEWS TELEPHONE FUND.

Warmer Weather Predicted Today

Temperature Is Twelve Above Zero Here at Midnight

The weatherman is being pretty persistent about predicting warmer weather but last night the temperature here had dipped to twelve degrees above zero, one degree higher than the minimum reported yesterday morning.

Today, however, the weatherman insists it will be much warmer but there's a catch to the prediction—it also calls for light snow.

Although warmer weather is being predicted, there was no indication of it last night with both Cumberland and Thomas, W. Va., reporting but twelve degrees above zero shortly before midnight. At the same time at Deal, Pa., it was colder still, a reading placing the temperature at only two above. Skies were clear at all three places.

Yesterday's minimum temperature here was thirteen degrees and the mercury rose to about the freezing point yesterday afternoon before beginning a steady decline.

On Big Savage mountain yesterday the minimum temperature was five degrees above zero and the maximum there was eighteen degrees. It held steady at that point for several hours and the thermometer still registered that figure at 8 o'clock last night.

State police reported roads in Allegany county are clear but added that there are some spots of ice on Garrett county highways.

Husband Seeks Divorce And Custody of Child

Suit for a partial divorce from Mrs. Catherine L. Hansell was filed in circuit court yesterday by Charles W. Hansell who stated they were married April 17, 1932. Hansell, represented by Edward J. Ryan, seeks the custody of their minor child.

Marshall White has filed suit for divorce from Mrs. Alice A. White on undisclosed grounds. Mrs. Florence L. Arthur seeks a divorce from Edwin R. Arthur.

Leaves for Training

Miss Margery Ann White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Carl White, 737 Washington street, left yesterday for Hunter college, New York city, where she will begin her indoctrination training in the WAVES.

Miss White, who enlisted in Washington, D. C., on her twentieth birthday last November 20, is a graduate of Allegany high school. She attended Ursuline Business school prior to working as a court reporter for the Powell Publicity Service.

McCoole Youth Returns

Police reported last evening that Leonard Hershberger, 17, McCoole, reported as missing from his home since Tuesday, has been listed as having returned to his home.

Extinguish Blaze

A slight blaze, caused by a short circuit in the wiring at the home of Frank D. Wrightsman, 22 Laing avenue, was extinguished yesterday at 2:58, by South Cumberland firemen. Damage from the short circuit, which developed in the wire near the electric meter on the front porch, was negligible, firemen said.

Local Flier Has Close Call after B-29 Mission

Lt. Jett and Crew Land in Bomber Out of Fuel

Lt. John B. Jett, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude T. Jett, Sr., Park Heights, has had at least one narrow escape since becoming special radio officer on board a B-29 Superfortress of the Twentieth bomber command based in India.

The B-29 "Raidin' Maiden," was returning to its base from Singapore and was on the last leg of the longest daylight mission in history when it happened.

Seventy-five miles from home the gasoline indicator was bouncing around the zero marker and only twenty-five miles remained when the No. 1 engine began sputtering and a call to the flight engineer brought word to the pilot that gasoline left was only "about enough to fill your lighter."

Notifies Control Tower

When the No. 1 engine quit and then No. 3 went out the pilot notified the control tower that there was no gas and the crew was bailing out. That's what he thought.

Men in the front of the plane were given the signal to jump and four of them slipped through the front wheel well. Simultaneously, the pilot rang the bail-out alarm for the men in the rear but some defect kept it from ringing.

The field was in view when the two remaining engines fizzled out, sending "Raidin' Maiden" into a complete glide. The plane was losing altitude rapidly and the pilot and flight officer, who didn't bail out, wondered if the plane would make the field or not.

Rolls On to Runway

It soon became apparent that the plane would fall short and it did—from forty to fifty feet. The wheels smacked the ground, enveloping the entire area in clouds of dust and flying rocks. Then out of the dust the long, silver nose of "Raidin' Maiden" appeared as she rolled on to the runaway, her four engines out.

Spectators, who had gathered around the control tower and alternately had been sweating out the descending parachutists as well as the incoming plane, broke into a loud roar as the ship passed the control tower and came to a halt.

A tractor hauled the big bomber from the runway to make landing room for other planes returning from the mission and it was not until the ship had stopped altogether that the pilot discovered there were other men aboard.

He heard noises from the rear of the ship and his investigation revealed that Lt. Jett and six other crewmen were still on board. He found them with their parachutes ready, still waiting the bail-out alarm that never came. They agreed they had thought of jumping on their own accord, but by the time they made up their minds it was too late—the plane had lost too much altitude.

Brothers in Service

Lt. Jett has two brothers in service. Staff Sgt. Claude T. Jett, Jr., serving with the parachute infantry in France since November, and Seaman Second Class J. Elliott Jett, now stationed at Bainbridge naval training center.

Before his induction, Lt. Jett was employed by Stein Brothers and Boyce, stock brokers. He received his commission and wings at Yale university in May 1943 and has been overseas since April 1944. He and his two brothers are graduates of Allegany high school.

DEATHS

MRS. ABEL CONNER

Funeral services were conducted yesterday at the home in Tunnelton, W. Va., for Mrs. Annie Elizabeth (Shaver) Conner, 69, wife of Abel Conner, who died at her home Monday morning at 6 o'clock.

She was born April 10, 1875, a daughter of the late Jacob N. and Lydia Stephenson Shaver.

A native and lifelong resident of Tunnelton, she had been a member of the Church of the Brethren there for thirty-three years.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sons, Edward "Beany" Conner and Russel D. Conner, both of Fairmont, W. Va., and Bennie B. Conner, this city; two daughters, Mrs. Agnes M. Bennett and Mrs. Lula B. King, both of this city; nine grandchildren, two great grandchildren, and one brother, Boyd Shaver, Tunnelton.

The Rev. A. C. Auvil, elder of the Tunnelton Church of the Brethren, officiated, and was assisted by the Rev. H. C. Sanders, Parkersburg, W. Va. Interment was in Camp Ground cemetery.

MRS. EMMA MERCHANT

Mrs. Emma Merchant, 68, wife of Edward Merchant, Berkeley Springs, W. Va., farmer, died yesterday morning at 6:27 o'clock in Allegany hospital where she was admitted January 3. She had been ill for more than a year.

The body was taken to her home in Berkeley Springs yesterday. Interment will be in Highland, W. Va.

WILLIAM McCORMICK RITES

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home for William Malcolm McCormick, 70, of 32 Boone street, retired B. and O. machinist, who died of a heart attack Tuesday morning.

The Rev. Edward P. Heinze, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, officiated. Interment was in Hillcrest cemetery.

Pallbearers were Arthur J. Weber, James N. Long, Raymond Berrinton, C. W. Koser, Melvin Wilt and Fred Sine.

Harden is a veteran of the Hollandia operation which cut off the entire Japanese Eighteenth Army, and Biak, which again advanced Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces several hundred miles nearer the Philippines.

Local Elks Lodge Asks Support in Drive for Nurses

Cumberland Organizations Are Asked To Submit Prospects' Names

Cumberland Lodge, No. 63, B. P. O. Elks, is asking the support of all Cumberland organizations in its program of enlisting nurses for Veterans Administration hospitals, according to an announcement made yesterday by Peter F. Matt, chairman of the lodge's war committee.

The Elks have been asked by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, administrator of veterans affairs, to assist in the program of enlisting 1,000 nurses and Matt said he believes the program is so important that it requires the assistance of the entire community.

Veterans Administration hospitals have been losing personnel to the armed forces and others have gone into war industries and in order to prevent the situation from becoming serious the program is being undertaken at the present time.

Matt pointed out that as the war continues, more and more men no longer fitted for military service and needing continued hospital care and medical attention, are being discharged to Veterans Administration hospitals. These fighting men, wounded or sick, Matt added, must not be neglected and must be cared for by trained personnel.

Anyone in any organization who knows someone interested in the program to obtain nurses is asked to send the name and address to the War committee of the local Elks lodge or write the Veterans Administration, regional office, 1315 St. Paul street, Baltimore.

WYLIE M. FAW, JR., IS PROMOTED TO FULL COLONEL

Wylie M. Faw, Jr., of the United States Army Medical Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Faw, 505 Cumberland street, whose home is at Cambridge, Md., has been promoted from lieutenant colonel to colonel. Announcement of his promotion was made at headquarters port of embarkation at Charleston, S. C.

Col. Faw entered active military service, March 1, 1941 with the rank of first lieutenant. His first assignment was as assistant chief of surgical service in the Fourteen Hundred Twenty-seventh Service Command, later moving up to the office of chief surgeon.

Promoted to the rank of captain in December 1941, the former staff surgeon at Cambridge hospital, was transferred to station hospital, Fort Story, Va., as chief of professional services. In July, 1942, he was promoted to major and later to lieutenant colonel.

On Jan. 10, 1944, Col. Faw assumed command of the Two Hundred Twentieth Army Hospital Ship Medical Complement. The unit comprises a hospital ship now plying the Atlantic returning combat injured to the United States.

Col. Faw is a graduate of Allegany high school and received his Doctor's degree from the University of Maryland in 1930. He practiced medicine in Cambridge from 1934 to 1941. His wife, Mrs. Phyllis L. Faw, resides in Cambridge.

Divorce Granted

An absolute divorce from Mrs. Sarah Hutzell, Mt. Savage, was granted to Ralph Hutzell in a decree signed yesterday in circuit court by Chief Judge William A. Huster. Edward J. Ryan was Hutzell's attorney.

DAV Give to Boys' Club

Fort Washington Chapter, No. 2, Disabled American Veterans, at a recent meeting voted to contribute $25 for use of Police Boys' club Bible class activities. The chapter also voted to purchase another $1,000 war bond.

Hyndman Soldier Killed; Two Local Men Are Wounded

Sgt. Robert Burkett Lost His Life in Luxembourg on November 23

A Hyndman soldier has been killed in Luxembourg, two Cumberland men have been wounded, and another local man is missing in action, according to yesterday's war casualty list.

Staff Sgt. Robert Burkett, husband of Mrs. Eileen Oliver Burkett, and only son of Mrs. Amelia Brook Burkett, Hyndman, Pa., was killed in Luxembourg, November 23.

A graduate of Hyndman high school, Staff Sgt. Burkett was a staff member at the Celanese plant prior to entering the service June 4, 1941. He received training at Fort Myer, Va., and Fort Benning, Ga., before going overseas last June with an infantry regiment of the Eighty-third division. He took part in several battles in the European theater and won the infantryman's combat badge.

Besides his widow and mother, Staff Sgt. Burkett is survived by seven sisters, all residents of Hyndman. They are Mrs. Clyde Snyder, Mrs. Edgar Brown, Mrs. Eugene Ringler, Mrs. Harold Emerick, Mrs. Guy Hyre, Mrs. Glenn Sheirer and Miss Doris Burkett.

Sheldon C. Post, 31, technician fourth grade, husband of Mrs. Grace M. Post, 238 Humbird street, and son of Mayor and Mrs. Thomas S. Post, 512 Louisiana avenue, was slightly wounded in Belgium, December 18.

Prior to entering the army in 1942, Sgt. Post worked with his father at the latter's service station on Second street. He went overseas last March. A brother, Flight Officer Thomas R. Post, is a glider pilot in France.

Pvt. Robert Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor, 606 Elwood street, is hospitalized in France after suffering frozen feet while serving at the front.

Pvt. Carl B. Mongold, son of Mrs. Elsie Mongold, 526 Broadway circle, and of Carl E. Mongold, 437 Waverly terrace, has been missing in action in Belgium since December 22. Pvt. Mongold attended Fort Hill high school and was employed by the B and O railroad prior to entering the service in February, 1943. He went overseas a year ago.

Maus Forfeits Bond On Gaming Charge

Thomas Maus, booked as of 35 North Mechanic street, forfeited $25 bond yesterday when he failed to appear in police court for a hearing on a charge of maintaining a gaming device and place for gambling.

He was arrested Wednesday afternoon by Detective Lt. B. Frank Gaffney and Officer R. C. Cassen. The officers said a card game was in progress at the Gem billiard parlor.

Shook Is Acquitted

Charged with assaulting his wife during an argument at their home Wednesday, Carl Shook, 41, 12 Queen City pavement, was acquitted in trial magistrates court yesterday after a hearing before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.

Shook's wife, Mrs. Lula Shook, whom he married last May, said that her husband has blackened her eye three times since their marriage. When Magistrate Bruce asked whether her husband ever threw anything at her, Mrs. Shook replied that they both "threw their fists at each other."

Shook, a B. and O. employe, was also acquitted of a second charge that he had destroyed a radio valued at $65, the property of Audrey Weese, a roomer at the same address. Magistrate Bruce dismissed the charge on condition that Shook repair the radio and refrain from further disturbances.

Two Manslaughter Cases Scheduled For Early Trial

Arraignment of Prisoners Saturday Is Expected To Be Short

Two charges of manslaughter are among the first cases scheduled to be heard when criminal trials of the January term of circuit court begin Monday morning, State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris said last night.

Arraignment of prisoners indicted by the January grand jury will take place at 9:15 a. m. Saturday but the proceedings are expected to be short since only two men under indictment are held in the county jail. Other traversers are at liberty under bond.

The trial of John Wilbur Ruby, of Bean's Cove, Pa., indicted on a charge of manslaughter in the death of his cousin, Alva William Ruby, also of Bean's Cove, as the result of a highway crash on Route 40 east of Cumberland on October 22, has been set for Monday, Harris said.

Scheduled for Tuesday

The second manslaughter indictment, returned against William Baker, 20, of near Frostburg, in the death of his brother, James O. Baker, 16, who was killed in a highway accident on the McMullen highway, three miles south of Cresaptown, on November 25 is scheduled for trial Tuesday, the state's attorney added.

Only prisoners held in the county jail and who will be arraigned Saturday morning are Herbert Ford Mullenax and Mason H. George, both of Cumberland.

Mullenax was indicted on seven charges of bulgary, larceny, receiving stolen goods and unauthorized use of an automobile. Five of the indictments against him also were returned by the grand jury against Joseph Blake Files, also of Cumberland, on charges that the two youths worked together in a series of thefts.

George was indicted on a charge of carnal knowledge, the alleged offense occurring July 13, 1944.

Inn Operators Accused

Two indictments were returned against H. E. Northrup and Nancy Whetsell, of a McMullen highway inn, charging them with the unlawful sale of intoxicating beverages after hours.

Another indictment was returned against George House, Cumberland, on a charge that he obtained meat on false pretenses from Mrs. John W. Poffenberger on December 9.

Nevlyn L. Boyer Reported Missing

Local Soldier Served in Germany; Went Overseas in October

Pfc. Nevlyn L. Boyer, 24, has been reported missing in action in Germany as of December 16, according to word received Wednesday night by his wife, Mrs. Louise Miller Boyer, Roberts place.

An infantryman, Pfc. Boyer had been overseas since October, landing first in England and then being ordered to Belgium.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Merl Claude Boyer, 508 Welch avenue, Pfc. Boyer went to work at the Celanese plant after attending Allegany high school but later accepted employment with the George F. Hazelwood Company as a carpenter.

Pfc. Boyer was inducted March 17, 1942, received his basic training at Fort Jackson, S. C., and then was transferred to Nashville, Tenn. He subsequently was moved to Camp Atterbury, Ind., and went overseas from that point.

Pfc. and Mrs. Boyer have one son, William Boyer, 2½. The soldier also has two sisters, Misses Martha and Francelia Boyer at home.

Capt. Schwarzenbach Says Deshon Hospital Is Rationing Cigarets

Capt. George A. Schwarzenbach, of Cumberland, post exchange officer at Deshon General hospital, Butler, Pa., has announced that cigaret rationing for soldiers and civilian employes at the hospital is now in effect.

Effective this week, one pack a day will be sold to each holder of cigaret ration cards, Capt. Schwarzenbach announced, and added:

"Rationing of cigarets came as a directive from the Third Service Command headquarters in Baltimore. There is no guarantee that there will be plenty of stock."

Three Fort Hill Seniors Enter Navy

Three former students at Fort Hill high school, two of them star athletes, passed their final physical examinations Wednesday in Baltimore and were sworn into the navy, according to Chief Petty Officer Walter B. Warmee, in charge of local navy recruiting.

The boys, all 17, are Tevis "Ted" Durbin, 1102 Virginia avenue, star forward on the Fort Hill basketball team; Ray Lapp, 716 Oldtown road, who played end on the school football team during the past season; and Clarence L. Jenkins, 27 Marion street, a former manager of the football team.

All three of the boys were in their senior year at Fort Hill when they entered the navy. They left for Baltimore January 8.

Injured in Fall

WLB To Hold Hearing On Contract Demands Of Lonaconing Workers

A hearing on wage increases and other contract improvements asked for members of the Lonaconing sub-local of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, employed in the Lonaconing plant of the General Mills, Inc., will be conducted today in Baltimore before a War Labor Board panel, John G. Thomas, business manager of the local, announced yesterday.

James A. Dundon, national TWUA representative, and Thomas will present the union's case.

Thomas said the union seeks a wage increase of ten cents an hour and shift differentials of five cents for the afternoon and ten cents for the night.

In addition the union wants one week's vacation for employes with six months or more of service and two weeks for those with five years service, and the checkoff.

Veteran of Sixty Missions Relates His Experiences

Kiwanians Hear Lt. Richard Penfield, Jr., Describe Bombings

Experiences as a bombardier-navigator on a B-25 medium bomber in the China-Burma-India theater of operations as well as five combat missions in Italy during the Anzio beachhead assault, were described to members of the Kiwanis club at their meeting here yesterday in Central YMCA, by First Lt. Richard Penfield, Jr., a veteran of sixty missions who is now home on furlough after thirteen months of overseas duty.

Fifty-five of his missions were flown over the Chindwin hills, a mountain range about 12,000 feet high, between India and Burma. Lt. Penfield said that the missions were during the monsoon season and asserted they were not troubled much by Jap fighters as the Japs did not think anyone could fly in that kind of weather. He told of flying ammunition and supplies to Allied troops who were fighting the Japs in the Imphall valley.

Lt. Penfield explained how the Japs used camouflage in an effort to conceal their activities from Allied airmen. He said the Japs also left "suicide" outfits behind when most of the troops were pulled out and that Allied foot troops had a tough time in wiping out the Japs.

The aviator said that the supply question was the most critical problem the Allies faced in fighting the Japs in Burma and China, but added that getting supplies in was also hard for the Japs.

Lt. Penfield told the Kiwanians that in his opinion the Japs will finally move from the mainland into China where he believes the final phases of the Pacific war will be fought. He said Japan was now moving many of her industries into China, in an effort to get away from United States bombers.

The speaker let the Kiwanians inspect two souvenirs which he brought home from India — two kukris, short swords with broad curved blades, which are used by Gurkhas, a warlike Himalayan tribe, in guerrilla warfare against the Japanese.

Guests at the meeting were George Rodman, F. T. Rogers, Robert Young, Lt. Com. R. R. Crawford, Lt. W. H. Macy, and Albert H. Macy.

Federal, railroad and Montgomery county authorities yesterday were investigating the explosion of the locomotive on a Baltimore and Ohio railroad troop train Wednesday morning near Buck's Lodge, twenty-two miles west of Rockville.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation was probing the blast that took the lives of two Baltimore enginemen for evidence of sabotage, but emphasized that its investigation is only preliminary and will not be pressed unless an indication of sabotage is revealed.

No cars of the thirteen-car train were derailed by the blast and authorities said none of the military personnel aboard was removed for treatment of injuries. Traffic was held up for nearly four hours.

Police said a much worse crash was averted by halting of an eastbound B. and O. express-mail train on an adjoining track on which pieces of the locomotive were strewn.

Besides the FBI, the locomotive inspection bureau of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the railroad and county officers were probing the cause of the explosion which scattered debris of the locomotive but left the big wheels intact on the tracks.

Home Service Chairmen Meet in Frostburg

Mrs. Louise Dean, home service secretary of the local Red Cross chapter, presided at the first of a series of monthly meetings of home service branch chairmen yesterday from 10 a. m. until 4 p. m. at the nurses' health center, Firemen's hall, Frostburg.

Mrs. Dean explained new regulations and changes of policy in the work of the home service division, included regulations regarding prisoners of war, the veerification of telegrams to the families of wounded servicemen, benefits for dependents of men in the service, and allotments to servicemen's families.

Ten branch chairman attended the meeting, and Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary, was also present. The next meeting will be held in February.

Sentiment on Doe Season Suggested By Fulcher Smith

State Commission Member Expresses His Views on Controversy

A recent statement to the Cumberland News by Joseph A. Mink, regional game warden, to the effect that there was agitation for an open season on doe in Garrett county immediately brought a swift rebuke from sportsmen of that county and yesterday the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission entered the controversy when Fulcher P. Smith, of Ellerslie, announced his interest in getting sentiment of Garrett county sportsmen on the subject.

In a letter to George H. Hanst, of Oakland, News correspondent, Smith stated that there seems to be considerable agitation in the press for an open season on doe in Garrett county but he does not know the source of this as no requests have came to him nor does he know of any petitions being circulated.

Must Consider Question

"However, it affords an opportunity to consider this question," Smith declared. "First of all I am interested in getting the sentiment of Garrett county sportsmen on this subject for certainly the residents of Garrett county have the most accurate opinions of the deer population. And they, above all, should be given first consideration."

The member of the state commission says he is not clear as to whether these petitioners want LESS deer in the woods—or whether they want MORE bucks.

"If the desire is to reduce the entire deer population in Garrett county then certainly the quickest and surest way is to kill off the does," he said. "If the desire is to get a greater percentage of bucks than we now have—then we are confronted with a real problem.

Explains Open Season

"It must be remembered that the only way you can declare an open season on does is to declare an open season on antlerless deer. This means that all young male deer whose horns have not grown enough to classify them as "spike" bucks are legal game and the same percentage of them will be killed as that of the does proper. This automatically decreases the number of legal bucks for the following year. If it were possible to select the barren does and kill them only, then our problems would be comparatively simple.

"By all the laws of average, the more does there are, the more offspring there will be and in like proportion the more bucks there will be born. There can be no increase in the deer population without having an abundance of does because a great many of the fawn born do not reach maturity.

"The usual reason for declaring a doe season is shortage of food. Unless the animals have plenty of food to fatten up for the winter and then have enough to sustain them during the severe months of cold weather the deer become weak and many die late in the winter and early spring, and of course nobody will benefit from this loss. It is easy enough to notice an area that does not furnish enough food for deer — the twigs and branches are completely cleaned of vegetation as high as the animals can reach. This is particularly true of the vegetation of burned over areas or of second growth timber. I, personally, have never seen any signs of food shortages for deer in Garrett county nor have I had any signs called to my attention.

Affects Land Owners

"I do not think that the average set of antlers of the bucks killed today in Garrett county are as large as they were five years ago. I do think it is logical that herds can become inbred. If this situation exists, then I think that our game commission should endeavor to buy as many bucks as possible from Michigan or elsewhere and turn them loose in Garrett county to see if this new blood would not strengthen our herds. Here we reach the question as to whether the land owners of Garrett county feel that an increased deer population causes them too much damage and whether or not there is definite objection to the size of the present deer herd. For after all, it is the privately owned land in Garrett county that furnishes most of the food for the deer and these land owners should be considered.

"Deer hunting, that is buck hunting, is a sport that attracts many to Garrett county. It helps popularize the county and brings in considerable revenue. It is an open question as to how much good doe hunting would do the county — particularly from the angle of sportsmanship."

In his communication to Hanst, Smith says there is really no use bothering the legislature with a question of this nature because under their discretionary powers the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission can issue any necessary regulations.
